VICTORY LOAN TO BE FOR 4 1-2 BILLIONS

THE INTEREST RATES AND TAX EXEMPTIONS ARE OUTLINED; "TO FINISH THE JOB"

Terms of the Victory Liberty Loan have been announced by Secretary Glass. They are:

Amount, $4,500,000,000, oversubscriptions to be rejected. Interest 4 3-4 per cent for partially tax exempt notes, convertible into 4 3-4 per cent notes wholly tax exempt.

Maturity four years with the treasury reserving the privilege of redeeming the notes in three years.

The 3 3-4 per cent notes to be issued later also may be converted subsequently back into 4 3-4 per cent notes.

The 4 3-4 per cent securities are to be exempt from state and local taxation excepting estate and inheritance taxes, and from normal rates of federal income taxes. The 3 3-4 per cent securities are exempt from all federal, state and local taxes except estate and inheritance taxes.

The size of the loan was much smaller than had been anticipated by most financial observers who looked for an issue of about $6,000,000,000 particularly in view of Secretary Glass' past statement that the loan would be five or six billions.

This will be the last Liberty Loan, Secretary Glass explained, although there will be other issues of government securities to finance belated war expenses. These will not be floated by popular campaigns.

None of the past issues of Liberty Bonds are convertible into Victory loan notes, and there are no specific provisions in the terms of the Victory issue serving directly to maintain market prices of past issues.

Campaign Already On

In many communities the selling campaign has begun actively, without formal acceptances of subscriptions, said reports today to the treasury although the official opening date is April 21, one week from Monday. The drive will continue three weeks until May 10.

"In fixing the terms of the issue," said Secretary Glass' announcement, "the treasury has been guided largely by the desire to devise a security which will not only prove attractive to the people of the country but the terms of which should insure a good market for the notes after the campaign is over and identical prices for the two series, and should not affect injuriously the market for the existing bonds of the Liberty Loans.

The Last Liberty Loan.

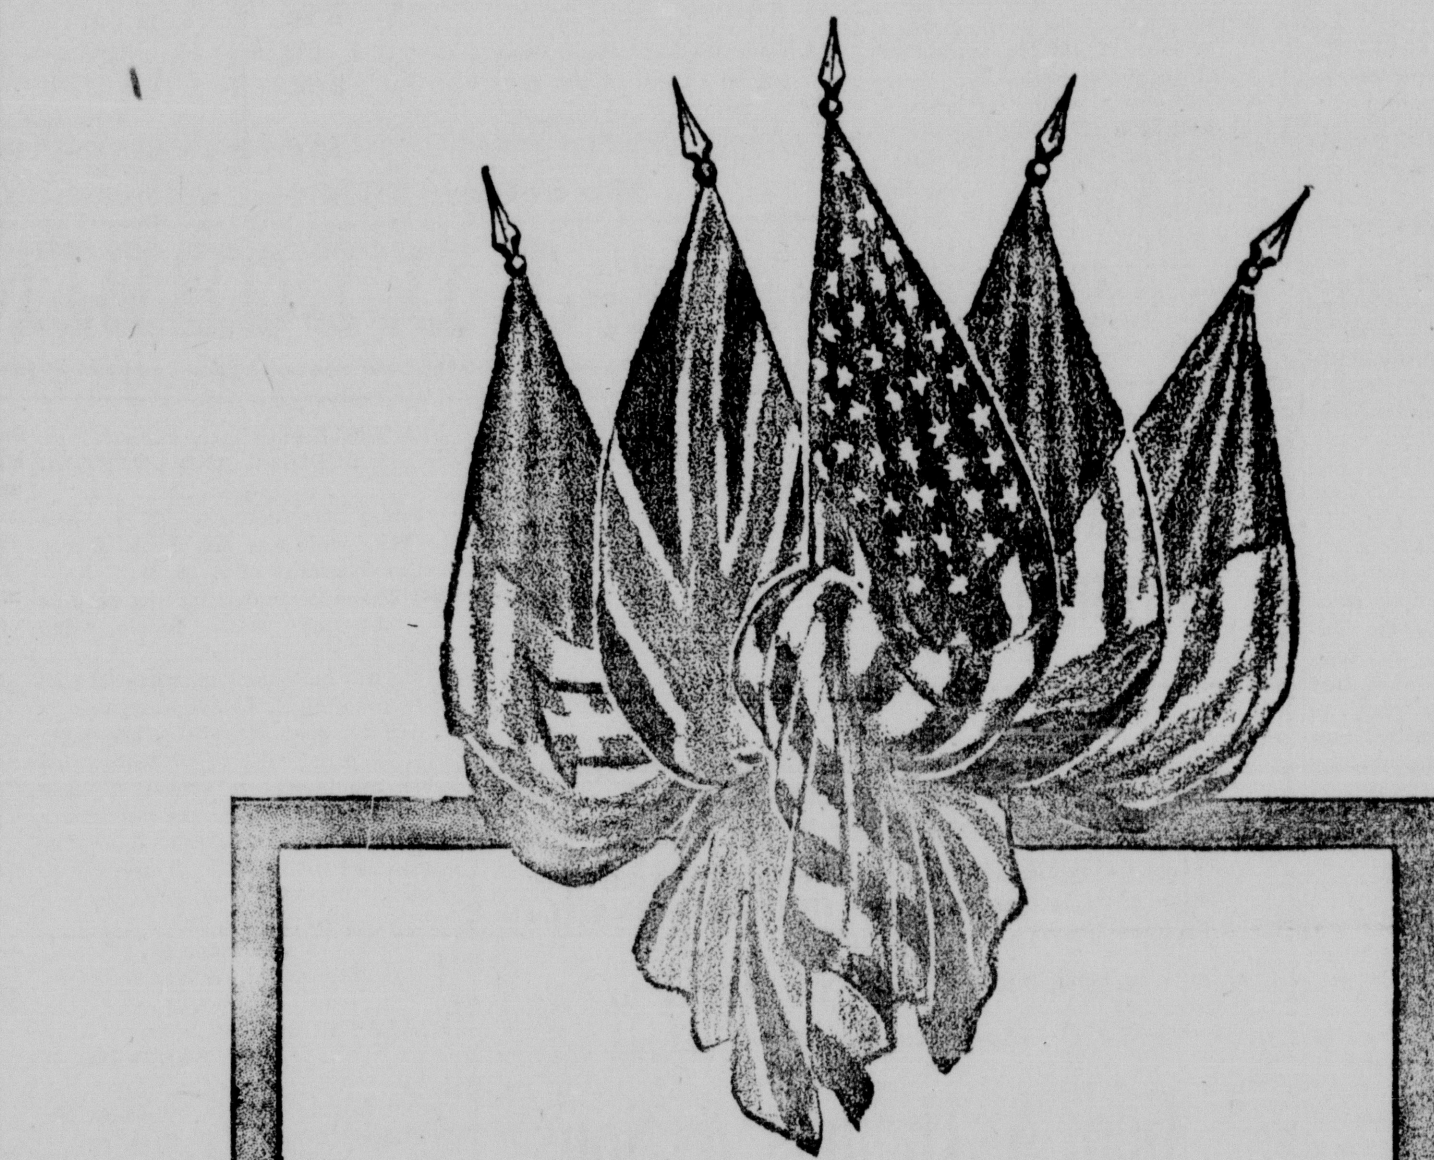

"This will be the last Liberty Loan. Although as the remaining war bills are presented further borrowing must be done. I anticipate that the requirements of the government in excess of the amount of taxes and other income can in view of the decreasing scale of expenditure be readily financed by the issue of treasury certificates from time to time as heretofore, which may be ultimately refunded by the issue of notes or bonds without the aid of another great popular campaign such as characterized the Liberty Loans.

To Finish The Job.

"I am sure that the people of America will subscribe in the same spirit of patriotism which they have shown in the past to the end that the notes may be as widely distributed as possible, and that our banking institutions may be left free to supply the credit necessary for the purpose of industry and commerce and the full employment of labor. Let the world see that the patriots of America, out of their boundless resources, and with the same enthusiasm and devotion to country with which they prosecuted the war to a victorious conclusion, are determined to finish the job."

Terms Of The Loan.

Terms of the loan are as follows: The Victory Liberty Loan, which will be offerer for popular subscription on April 21 will take the form of 4 3-4 per cent three, four year convertible gold notes of the United States exempt from estate and local

LET'S FINISH THE JOB!

Our boys in France have done their part. The enemy has capitulated and asked for terms. But our responsibility does not cease with the armistice. We still have a duty to perform. The bill must be paid. While the war was going on we were willing to strain every nerve, spend every dollar we had, give our lives, if need be, in order to win. We have won and the price of victory for us is the loan of our money.

Others have paid a much higher price—to some it has been the loss of limb, to some the loss of sight, and to others the supreme sacrifice—loss of life. Shall we hesitate then to bear a lighter burden?

The honor of America is at stake. The work has been done. The debt has been incurred. The debt must be paid.

On April 21st, a day glorious in Texas history, the Victory Liberty Loan Campaign opens. Let us add increased luster to this day by responding nobly to the last call which our Country makes upon us.

Our boys in arms have made a splendid record for America. Shall the fair name of America be dimmed by our failure to meet the debt incurred that they might succeed?

This last campaign is the truest test of patriotism and one which I know our people will meet to the fullest.

W. G. GILLIS

taxes except estate and inheritance tax and from normal federal income taxes. The notes will be convertible at the option of the holder, throughout their life into 3 3-4 per cent four year convertible gold notes of the United States, exempt from all federal, state and local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes. In like manner the 3 3-4 per cent notes will be convertible into the 4 3-4 per cent notes.

Provision for Allotments.

"The amount of the issue will be $4,500,000,000, which with the deferred installments of income and profit taxes payable in respect to last years' income and profits during the period covered by the maturity dates of treasury certificates of indebtedness now outstanding will fully provide for the retirement of such certificates.

The issue will be limited to $4,500,000,000 except as it may be necessary to increase or decrease the amount to facilitate allotments. Over subscriptions will be rejected and allotments made on a graduated scale similar in its general plan to that adopted in connection with the first Liberty Loan. Allotments will be made in full on subscriptions up to and including $10,000.

Date of Notes.

"The notes of both series will be dated and bear interest from May 20, 1919, and will mature on May 20, 1923. Interest will be payable on December 15, 1919, and thereafter semi-annually on June 15 and December 15, and at maturity. All or any of the notes may be redeemed before maturity at the option of the United States on June 15 or December 15, 1922, at par and accrued interest."

The interest rate of 4 3-4 per cent is the highest borne by any of the war issues. Financial interests have urged a 5 per cent rate, but Secretary Glass indicated recently that he regarded such a rate as excessive, and speculation as to the rate recently has revolved about 4 1/2 per cent. The 3 3-4 per cent rate of the tax exempt notes, into which the 4 3-4s are convertible is 1/4 per cent higher than the tax exempt First Liberty Bonds, which mature in thirty years.

From Our Peace Delegates.

Members of the American Peace Delegation in an appeal issued through the Treasury Department call upon all Americans to "finish the job" by supporting the Victory Loan.

"To finish this mighty task, imposes on the government a great financial burden," the statement continues. "The Victory loan must thrive. If it fails, it would indicate that the nation is willing to leave the task uncompleted. To secure the ideals for which Americans fought and died, this great demand on national patriotism and united effort should meet a generous and universal response. Let us do our duty to the end.

"We have had the opportunity here in France and realize the magnitude of the accomplishment of our country in the great war, and the magnificent spirit with which this great task has been carried through to a triumphant issue.

"What has been and what remains to be done before normal conditions can be restored demand your continued support with the same spirit of self sacrifice, and of determination as that which was manifested by the nation while the German armies faced our men at the Marne and in the Champagne at St. Mihiel, and in the Argonne. We must not relax our efforts until every soldier of the republic is landed safely again on the soil of America."

Promotion Expenses Cared For.

Expenses incurred in advertising and promoting the sale of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps are deductible on the part of individuals and corporations as a business expense in the computation of income taxes, according to advice given out by Commissioner Roper of the Internal Revenue Department at Washington. It is the intention of the Government to show every consideration to those men and women who have given their time and means in previous loss and to whom it looks for assistance in putting across the final effort of the Victory Liberty Loan.

It further explains the effort on the part of the Government to show its appreciation for the work of patriotic Americans, as evidenced in the announcement that medals struck from captured German cannons are to be awarded in the Victory Liberty Loan campaign, which will open on April 21. The medals will bear on its front an embossed design of the Treasury Building at Washington. The reverse side will bear an inscription giving the history of the emblem, with space for the name of the winner of the medal.

One section of the law places a tax on all persons selling real and imitation jewelry, precious stones, watches, clocks, opera glasses, etc. Sculpture paintings, statuary, art porcelains and bronzes.

Another section imposes a tax on all manufacturers of the following articles:

On Controlling Yourself.

(Houston Chronicle.)

More nervous and irritable every year and no apparent effort to control yourself—this fact stands out, even to yourself, does it not?

Recently you have been placed in position where you have sensed it strongly that a cool head is necessary. You need no better proof than you already have that you must get a grip on your nerves and your will power.

Now, this does not mean that you must tie yourself up into harder knots in your effort to overcome a serious condition.

You may need more rest, you may need more occasional recreation, you may need more pleasant conditions at home or at the office, or wherever you work; but whatever is the cause, remove it before it is too late.

It is just possible that you are eating too much, or you are eating the wrong kind of food, too much sweet or too much starch.

Then it may be control of your appetite which you need in order to relieve the state of your nerves; such things have happened.

One thing is certain, you won't get any better till you accomplish self-control. Get at it.

WAVE OF CRIME TO OVERFLOW U. S.; PINKERTON'S VIEW

A great wave of crime throughout the country is looked for by W. A. Pinkerton, head of the detective agency which bears his name.

"The crime wave has already started all over the country," he said Saturday morning. "It will grow worse and worse during the next few months. It is caused by the unsettled condition of thousands of men through out the country.

"The great crimes now are crimes of violence, bank and train robberies and daring offenses, which were on the wane before the war. We have had in the last few days the robbery of several banks in larger cities like St. Louis and Detroit. There is an unusually large number of these kind of crimes and I expect to see them increase in number for some times yet."

Greatest Wheat Crop in History

Officials of the American Millers' National Federation predict that the 1919 wheat crop will be between 1,250,000,000 and 1,500,000,000 bushels. The question of handling the crop was left to a special committee of fifteen members by those who participated in the Chicago conference. Representatives of 1,400 mills, with a daily capacity of 400,000 barrels of flour, attended the conference. Members of the special committee included Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, America never produced a billion bushel wheat crop. Now the experts say that the crop this year may reach the 1,500,000,000 mark.

The Queen of Festivals.

Next Sunday will be Easter. In the Christian calendar it is the queen of festivals. The Christian church, on the authority of the Scriptures, celebrates the rising from the dead of Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified and buried. It is a stupendous thought, this of one who has tasted death being able to say: "I am he that was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore." We frequently hear the term, "converted." The meaning, as employed in the Christian church, is that one has passed from death unto life through faith in the risen Christ. The promise is that as he died and rose again, so also shall all those who believe on him. The whole of the Christian religion is right here; faith in a risen Redeemer. "By faith are ye saved." "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life." It is life that every one craves; no one wishes for annihilation. The Christian church holds out the hope—it gives the pledge—of life beyond the grave. It indulges in no maybes; on this point it is emphatic this same Jesus, it says, who has gone into heaven will return to gather together the elect of God. That is why Easter is the queen of festivals; it is the assurance, on the church's authority, of everlasting life.

White Sewing Machine Manager Believes Tanlac Will Help All Other Sufferers.

"If it hadn't been for what other people said about Tanlac I might be suffering yet, and nobody need fear troubles like I had as long as Tanlac is made," said H. A. Morrison, local manager for White Sewing Machine Co., Dallas, Texas, and living at 3517 Brown Street of that city.

"I suffered from a long-standing and stubborn case of stomach trouble," he continued. "My stomach was nearly always full of gas that gave me no end of misery, and I had to quit eating most everything but broth and other light diet. I had such an awful pain in my right side that I couldn't stand up straight and sometimes I would almost double up in agony. I had terrible headaches, my sleep was so broken it didn't do me any good and I felt tired and worn out all the time.

"I read of a man in Tennessee who had gotten relief from the same trouble as mine by taking Tanlac, so I decided to try it. Before I had finished by first bottle I began to feel better and a few more made me feel like a different man. I get as hungry as a bear at meal times, eat anything I want and nothing hurts me at all. I sleep as sound as a log and get up full of life and energy, I have already gained eight pounds and my work is a real pleasure to me now."

Tanlac is sold in Cameron by all the leading druggists.

HILLYER'S FOR FLOWERS

Chas. S. Heacock, Manager
Austin, Texas, April 3, 1919.

Benson Motor Company,
City.

Dear Sirs:

Am writing you concerning what I consider the great efficiency economy of maintenance and durability of the Oakland Sensible Six.

I have been in possession of an Oakland about two years and find in it all that could be expected of a car for general use. The cost of repairs has been practically nothing. The consumption of gasoline is very light; in fact, I believe it to be the lowest of any car of its power. I average from 20 to 35 miles per gallon on the road for touring. The oil consumption is equally as light.

I have driven my car through the roughest parts of Oklahoma and Northwestern Texas without miring or having a puncture or breakdown, over roads that were practically trails, and had not been graded.

I have driven my car as much as 7148 miles actual count without a puncture, tires lasting from 9000 to 11,000 miles; and when I needed power or speed, I found plenty of it, the car holding the road well and riding easy. I attribute this efficiency to the lightness and balance of the car.

I shall want another Oakland when this car I have gives out, and trust you will be able to supply same.

Very truly,
CHAS. S. HEACOCK.

We claim 18 to 25 miles on gasoline; 8,000 to 12,000 miles on tires.

Sherman Democrat: It is reported that the Salvation Army is going to quit taking up collections by means of the girl and the tambourine. Don't do it. We shall miss the girl and the tambourine, and not only this, that Salvation Army lass gets a few pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and sometimes even dollars out of tightwads who never cough up for anything else. The money is used for a good purpose, so just let the little lass and her tambourine alone, please.

Has Never Been Down Sick Since Taking

PERUNA

Read this letter from Mr. Robt. Minnick, Grass Range, Montana.

"In 1900 I was out in Kansas running a threshing engine and the threshing crew had to sleep out of doors. One of the crew brought a Peruna Almanac to the engine one day and I was feeling very ill from sleeping out of doors. I decided to give Peruna a trial and sent for a bottle of Peruna and a box of Peruna Tablets, which straightened me out in a hurry.

"I have never been down sick since that time. I do not take any other medicines except Peruna. I always keep it on hand. If I get my feet wet, get a cold, feel chilly, or a little bad, I always take Peruna. People should not wait until they are down sick and then take it, but should keep it on hand like I do and use it when they feel bad, they should use it."

Spring and School Work.

It is hard for us to realize what a wonderful age and time we are living in. This is a golden year of a significant era. In some cases slowly, but in all cases surely, the world is greatly progressing. We may see changes going on all around us—a great panorama moving before our eyes.

But we may go further, and say that this month is the golden month of the best season in the year. Spring appeals to all. It is the favorite topic for the poet and for those who understand and love nature. Now all the "visible forms" of nature are at the height of their beauty—in their youthfulness as it were. The bird, the beast, the flowers, and the air, and the sun all combine to make this the happiest time of the year. Who does not prefer this to any other part of the year?

From this point of view, it is not just, perhaps, to expect as much of a school in the spring time as at other times. It is not altogether laziness, as some people say, that causes a person not to want to work in the spring. There is some indescribable something which calls and makes a person yearn to be out of doors and to enjoy nature.

It is our duty, however,—the duty of the individuals of the school to fight down this feeling. The number of hours that we spend at school each day, is very small, and vacation is fast approaching. Let us make the most of our time, and keep the school standards as near as possible to that which has been maintained throughout the year.

Work On The New Baseball Park.

Through the efforts of the Cameron Commercial Club, an athletic field was secured for Cam-Hi. A little work, however, was necessary to make it a first class base ball field. Accordingly Mr. Crawford selected thirteen boys from the high school to see that the grounds were put in shape on Tuesday, April 8. The company of young men assembled at the school building with hoes, rakes and wheelbarrows, and by nine o'clock were on the field at work, under the supervision of Mr. Kidd.

All went well, and a good showing was made by noon, when the Dixie Girls appeared with provisions for an excellent lunch. Mr. Thomas Hefley who had so far taken the prize for the most work, decided to take the prize for the most eating. He therefore ate one sandwich for each boy until thirteen were disposed of.

After the lunch, the girls decided to stay and help in the good work. Rakes were put in their hands and truly they made a good job of it. The girls seemed to prove an inspiration to the boys, for more was accomplished in the two hours following lunch than was in the whole forenoon.

We are glad that we have such a company of young ladies in school as the Dixie Girls, and we sincerely thank them for the splendid lunch and good work received from them. J. L. C.

Preparations Continue On Big Scale For "Mr. Bob."

Mr. Crawford and Misses Cain and Rose motored to Waco and Dallas last week end for the purpose of securing the electrical material necessary for the big production of "Mr. Bob." They were unable to find all that will be needed but the other things were ordered out of Saint Louis.

The dramatic club of the high school is working hard on the play and from all observations we are to have the most elaborate production ever offered. Three combined effects will be produced: Dramatic, musical and electrical. Mr. Crawford is sparing neither money nor efforts to make this production perfect from every point of view. The people of Cameron are to be the judges on the night of May 2nd, 1919. Owing to the fact that the seating capacity of the high school is quite limited, children under twelve years of age will not be admitted. Procure seats early. All seats reserved and at the same price of fifty cents.

The production is for the benefit of the high school annual and tickets will be sold by members of the senior class.

To Help Victory Loan.

Mr. J. N. Crawford has been selected to post the Victory Loan advertising in the city of Cameron. A large number of hangers and display cards have arrived and will soon appear in the show windows of the business firms of the city. We want the high school students to help do their part in getting the loan before the people, and we can do it by urging our parents to buy more bonds. Get them to buy them for us to go to school on later when we finish Cam-Hi.

Cameron Walks Off With Holland, 11 to 6.

News flashed over the wires about nine o'clock Friday that Holland would be down in "Old Cameron" to defeat her in a game of base ball. Well the bunch arrived in the afternoon, and the game was called at four o'clock. Holland was first at the "stick" but did not score. In about the sixth, Holland rallied and scored several runs. In the seventh Wiley was substituted for Parma in the box, and Parma went to short. In the eighth Parma was put behind the bat and Peel went to short. The game lasted eight and one half innings, Cameron being in the lead 11 to 6.

Last but not least we wish to thank the Cameron Commercial Club for making this game as well as others that we expect to play in the future possible. We also thank those who took part in cleaning off the infield.

ed the victorious section a candy making. After several hours of combat, section b came forward as the victor, and amid much cheering the conquered section walked from the room to meet whatever fate had in store for them.

Fate was kind, however, and B voted unanimously to invite A to an ice cream making, to be held at McCown bridge.

Therefore, Friday afternoon, Mr. Crawford left an exciting ball game between Cameron and Holland to lead the Fish expedition. After all ice cream is more enjoyable than a ball game.

We reached the place of our destination about 5 o'clock in buggies and cars. Freezers, ice, salt, milk and a little of everything imaginable were quickly collected, and with the assistance of sugar, milk and eggs and flavoring, the milk made excellent cream. There were two freezers of pineapple and one of peach.

The cream was frozen and then packed in ice so that it would remain frozen until a ball game was played between the girls and the boys. However, there were several "Tomboys" on the boys side. The game was almost as thrilling as the big game and it had the peculiar quality of making one hungry. Perhaps it is enough to say that there was no cream left, since it was of a superior quality, even if it wasn't cooked.

Advice to the Beauty Hungry.

(Conducted by Madame de Liar)

Dear Mme:

I'm engaged to a charming young lady, who dotes on ethics and beauty. I am a trained athlete, but am not beautiful. Can you give me some advice?

Edwin Bigbee.

This is indeed a distressing situation. Don a track suit, borrow a Cam-Hi sweater, and practice the Thomas Hefley pose at the basket ball games. A glance at him is worth a season ticket at any beauty contest.

Dear Mme:

I intend to go on the stage but I'm very nervous. I have some good looks—at least my lady admirers say so—but my nervousness detracts from my beauty. Your valued suggestions please.

Quinn Walker.

Dear Mr. Walker:

Try drinking straight water three times a day. Cut out coke and chili and you won't be rattled any longer.

Dear Mme:

Mr. Clark Childress has invited me to attend all the Commercial hops, so that I may be able to teach the angry mob the new dances. My particular difficulty is large feet. This social exigency calls for a No. 3 pump in place of my ordinary No. 7's. Can you tell me how to "trip it" under these circumstances?

Louise Adams.

Dear Miss Adams:

Try Allen's Foot Ease. It's good for pig's feet and may help yours. If it doesn't help you, try to taboo the dances.

Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Calomel Today! Sick Tomorrow!

I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Don't take nasty, dangerous calomel when bilious, constipated, headachy. Listen to me!

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

My Caller.

When Mable Agnes comes to call
 Her laughter echoed down the hall,
 And tripping echoes glad and sweet
 Came with her dancing little feet;
 And then she knocked and stood outside,
 And when I flung my portals wide
 She gave a leap, and came to rest
 With love and laughter 'gainst my breast.

Against my breast with all her charms
 And my neck necklaced by her arms
 And her hands were roses red
 Whose petals showered on my head!
 Red, Kingsville roses, plucked for me
 And cared for carefully till she
 Could bring them to me, glad and sweet,
 With laughing voice and dancing feet.

And then when she had gone away,
 A sweetness was left here to stay;
 Out in the long and shining hall
 I seem to hear her laugh and call,
 And see her, stand on tippytoe
 To kiss me, and the roses glow
 In their tall vase. Each understands
 The sweetness of her baby hands.

KINDERGARTEN HELPS FOR PARENTS

Issued by the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, and the National Kindergarten Association, New York. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

Things To Make out of Newspapers.

(By Mrs. Louise H. Peck.)
 Kindergarten lessons may be taught with simple material found in every home if only the mother possesses with the play spirit, the idea of working toward perfection in every smallest thing. Never discourage any effort, no matter how crude, but remark: "You have worked well, and next time your work will be better." If possible, do the work yourself first, alone, so that you may explain it clearly when working with the child. Never take a child's work to show him how to do it. Show him with another piece. His work is strictly his own.

The following suggestions are for children of all ages, from four year olds to grown ups, and it is much more fun when different ages work together. For our fun, we need only flour or prepared paste, and the newspapers which have been folded carefully away, waiting for us all this long time.

Chains.

Cut the white margins from several newspapers, very straight and all the same width. Then cut these in strips five inches long, all exactly the same length and with ends cut straight. Take one strip, and paste ends evenly together to form a ring, holding for a moment until the paste catches. Slip another strip through this ring, paste the ends as before, and now we have two rings, one linked within the other. Go on in this way until a long chain has been made. Sometimes brown wrapping paper strips may be alternated with the white newspaper strips. Later, make chains that will teach numbers: one brown, one white, two brown, one white; three brown, two white; using all kinds of combinations.

Don't cut the strips for the children. The preparation of their own material is a wonderful part of the lesson.

When several long chains have been made, they may be swung to music or singing, or used as a jumping rope swung back and forth slowly but not over the head.

Pussy Chains.

These are also made from evenly cut margins, and in as long strips as possible. Lay the ends of two strips across each other at right angles, and paste together. Fold the under strip over across the pasted end of the upper strip, but do not paste. Keep or folding one strip over the other at exact right angles until they are used up. Paste on other strips to make the chain longer, and paste ends together to finish.

These chains are pretty made of two colors, and may be used as decorations for a Christmas tree or as a rope for jumping or to hang on the wall.

Paper Sticks.

Now let us make some paper sticks for laying patterns or pictures on the table as we would with toothpicks. Cut a strip from the white margin or from the printed paper, half an inch wide and twelve inches long. Dip one corner of one end in water and begin to roll tightly at a slant. Keep on rolling, tightly, holding the tip with the right hand while the left holds and rolls the strip. When completely rolled into a paper stick of five or six inches, hold firmly and fold over the end. No paste is needed. This makes the old-fashioned lamp lighter or spill. Illustrated newspaper sheets make pretty variegated sticks.

When fifty or more of these sticks have been made, use them for laying pictures of houses, trees, fences and corners. If the child wishes to keep a picture, have him make a penciled drawing of it in a scrap book prepared of smooth wrapping paper. All kinds of geometric figures may be made with paper sticks, oblongs, squares, circles, triangles and so on. The bent sticks are kept in one box the straight one in another. In still another box we have all kinds of queerly bent paper sticks. There are our jackstraws, and we have our wand for lifting the sticks, from a longer strip of rolled paper, bent at the small end to make the hook.

Paper Pipes.

These are made of whole sheets of newspaper, rolled into loose cylinders measuring three or four inches across the end, the ends being folded or bent tightly in toward the center to keep the pipe from unrolling. To make water pipe, slip the end of one into the end of another, and lay as many as are desired, following the mopboards or anywhere else about the room.

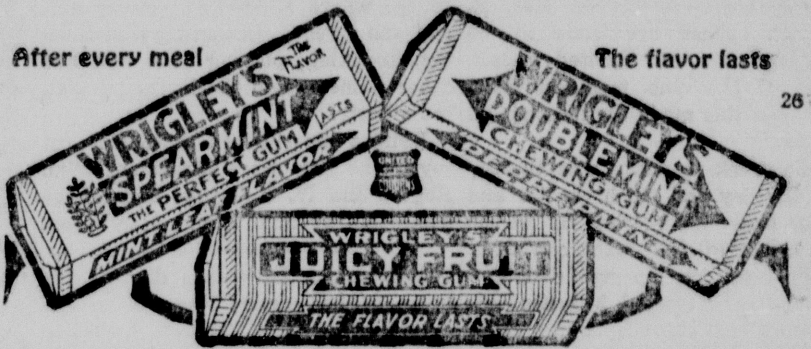

These rolled sheets may be stood or end for a stockade fence, or placed across each other to build a log house.

Stepping Stones.

the floor being the "water." Care must be taken to step straight and squarely on the paper to avoid slipping. The games is a fine one for developing quick balance. Sometimes we play "Eliza crossing the ice," with the dolls held tightly in our arms.

Castles.

Roll doubled sheets of newspaper into cylinders, big short ones, and big high ones. Look at some castle pictures and see how to pin the cylinder towers together, with long balconies. Good draw bridges and portcullis may be made by skillful fingers, also a moat from brown paper. The growing castle in the corner of the room has been known to make a whole family study pictured castles as never before, and even everyone helps in the building, there is more than a castle being built.

Priscillas With Mrs. Brown.
Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. R. D. Brown opened her home to the Priscillas and a few invited guests. Nearly all the club members were present and this made the meeting all the nicer.

Needle work as usual was the order of the day and much chatter and laughter made the stitches fly all the faster. During the afternoon Mrs. Alva Pool of Big Springs delighted the ladies with several beautiful selections on the piano. Yellow roses made everything lovely.

After a season of sewing the hostess served the following salad and ice course.

Chicken Salad
Pimento Salad
Fig Sweet Pickles

Four tables of players enjoyed the games and after three hands were played, Mrs. R. A. Thomas among the members of the club and Mrs. Fahrendorf among the guests were found to have won high score and were each presented with a bunch of pink carnations.

The house was beautiful with its Easter trimmings. Pink roses and carnations were used effectively throughout the reception hall and parlor. Rabbits and chickens were perched on vases of flowers and on the tables. Jordan almonds in baskets placed on each table further carried out the Easter idea.

The guests of the club for the afternoon were Mesdames Swift, Fahrendorf, McIntyre and Hubert Hefley in the games and Mesdames W. A. Bonds and Gus Evans came in late for the social and refreshment part.

The following two course luncheon was served by the hostess:

A merry crowd of children enjoyed a picnic in the woods last Saturday with Miss Eloise Rogers as hostess.

Two trucks and several cars carried the young folks to the Rogers-

Smith farm just beyond the Holtzelaw bridge where a bountiful picnic dinner was spread. Gathering wild flowers, kodaking, playing base ball and other games made the hours pass all too swiftly.

Besides the children those who enjoyed the day were Mesdames Wm. Rogers and W. O. Triggs and Misses Vance Hardy and Winnie Henderson.

Miss Leona Hutchison died at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. A. McAdams at 10 p. m. Thursday evening and was buried at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon at her home in Tulia, Texas. She was an affectionate sister and dutiful daughter and was the home maker for her father's family after her mother's death many years ago. Her father, Capt. W. B. Hutchison was for many years postmaster at Tulia and she was assistant to him in the office. There were nine children in the family and Miss Leona after her mother's death cared affectionately for her father and them. Her father's death occurred two years ago and she never fully rallied from her grief for him and her health failed. She was a great sufferer from rheumatism. All that loving hearts and skilled hands could do to prolong her life was done, but death came to her relief. Her patience in suffering was the marvel of all who knew her. Rev. H. R. MacFadyen conducted a short funeral service at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McAdams before the departure of the funeral party Friday. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent by friends of the family. Mrs. E. A. McAdams and son, Ronald, and her brother, Mr. Hardy Hutchison of Waxahachie, went with the remains to their last resting place in Tulia where other members of the family reside.

CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1919

NUMBER 50

ROAD BUILDERS AT MINERAL WELLS

Four Prominent Citizens From Cameron Represent Milam County At Big Meeting.

As representatives from the Cameron Commercial Club and because they are interested in good roads and a bigger and better Milam county, County Auditor Giles L. Avriett, Attorney U. S. Hearrell, H. M. Hefley and Hon. T. S. Henderson were numbered among those who attended the National Good Roads Meeting that is being held at Mineral Wells this week. These gentlemen excepting Mr. Henderson who went Tuesday night, arrived in Mineral Wells Sunday afternoon and were there for the opening of this important meeting.

The first three of this party returned Tuesday night and report a most successful trip. In speaking of the meeting, that was so successful, County Auditor Avriett gave the following outline:

"The convention opened Monday afternoon with more than 1500 delegates on hand with expectations of 2500 by Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by Senator Bankhead of Alabama. The welcome address was delivered by Governor Hobby of Texas and was responded to by Governor Brough of Arkansas. The address of welcome for the city of Mineral Wells was delivered by the president of the Chamber of Commerce of that city. The most interesting feature of the convention will possibly be on Friday as this is the day the route for the Bankhead Highway will be determined. There are two routes proposed for this great highway through the west, one leaving Hot Springs, crosses Arkansas through Altus, Okla., into Texas, touching Childress and Plainview and across New Mexico to El Paso. This is known as the northern route. The southern route leads from Hot Springs to Texarkana, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and to El Paso. It is my opinion that the southern route will be chosen and most of the Texas delegation are pulling for same."

"Everybody was delighted with the accommodations afforded by the citizens of Mineral Wells, they were ideal. Headquarters were maintained at the Crazy Hotel for the convention, every room in this monster building was placed at the disposal of delegates, this arrangement being made through the Chamber of Commerce of that city. There was no trouble experienced and the general verdict was that it was the best arranged convention of this size ever held in Texas."

"Among the state officials who are looking out for good roads in Texas attending were R. M. Hubbard, chairman of the State Highway Commission also other members of this board Messrs Fowler and Avery. State Highway Engineer Geo. A. Duren was also in attendance."

"Governors Hobb'y of Texas, Brough of Arkansas and Larrazole of New Mexico and former Governor Danogsey of Arkansas were distinguished guests."

Mr. Avriett said that as an educational feature he believed it was the best he had ever seen, and as for his part he learned lots about road building. Discussing the many features he said: "Every piece of modern machinery for building roads was on display including the Service Truck Company's products of Fort Worth, trucks made by the Selden, Troy, Denbar Republic and Warner people. There was also material of every known description for road building, which included brick, asphalt, concrete blocks stone and tar."

Mr. A. Jett was loud in his praise of this great meeting. He declared that the prevailing idea was to build good roads everywhere, not merely good roads, but permanent roads roads that will last for generations."

The trip to this convention by Milam county's auditor who has the direct supervision of road building in our county, is something that means no little to him and the citizenship should feel proud that they have in Mr. Avriett a man who is always on the alert for something better for the people he represents."

Branch Lewis spent Sunday in Rockdale with his family.

COMMITTEE CHAIR- MEN ARE NAMED

County Chairman W. G. Gillis of Victory Loan Urges Earnest Effort For Drive.

The following has been issued by County Chairman W. G. Gillis of the Victory Loan:

Cameron, Texas, April 15th, 1919.

Dear Sir:

This is to notify you that your name has been sent to the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Texas, for confirmation as Liberty Loan sub-chairmen for the Fifth Liberty Loan Campaign which is to open on April 21st. You rendered such signal and acceptable service in "putting over" the Fourth Campaign that I feel you can, on account of your experience, give even more valuable assistance in this drive. You are chosen because of your experience and because of the position you hold in the confidence and esteem of your people. What you think and say and do will influence your whole community. If you think success, talk success and work for success, the Fifth Campaign will go over as easily as the others.

This campaign will be the real test of patriotism. Before we had flying flags, beating drums, marching men and booming guns to urge us on to do our duty to our country. Now the war is practically over and the appeal to the imagination of men is gone but the appeal to real patriotism is still as strong as ever. We must finish the job. Our debts of honor must be paid. The boys must be brought safely home.

I know you are going to do your part and that your example will influence your neighbors.

At this hour of victory across the seas, we must not fail at home.

Below you will find a list of the sub-committeemen for your justice precinct. I suggest that a meeting should be called for the organization of your precinct at once and to this end I appoint John E. Mangum as chairman of your precinct and request him to call such meeting.

A Dandy Show Window.

Ray Burke the enterprising manager of the Duke & Ayer store in this city is losing no time and sparing no effort to make this store attractive. He has loaded the shelves with numerous trinkets as well as useful articles that the people want. His latest achievement is a show window filled with "watermelons" and bombs like Uncle Sam whipped the Kaiser with, only they are filled with air. A buzz fan arranged in the center of the bunch keeps things lively and is attracting the attention of not only the "kiddies" but the grown ups as well.

BAPTIST REVIVAL VERY SUCCESSFUL

Enthusiasm Runs High And Pastor Blaylock Is Preaching Straight Gospel.

The second week of the meeting at the Baptist church is in full swing. All who have attended the meeting have come away with a keener vision of the meaning of life.

Every sermon has rung out the battle cry of Christ—"Onward Christian Soldiers." Brother Blaylock is putting his very heart into his messages and they are finding a response in the heart of God's people. His morning services are soul-filling and inspirational and many people are leaving their work both at home and in the city to attend these meetings.

The pastor is trying to show the Christian people that they have a responsibility in this life—the responsibility of telling some one else about Jesus. He is also bringing Christ before the unsaved in no uncertain terms. Wednesday night he preached a splendid sermon on "Set Your House in Order." He set forth the joy and responsibility of homemakers. He brought out the point that a multitude of little things were breaking into the home life, and that thus parents were losing their grip on their children. He

Club in the Sap Highway association, announced the following committees which will appear with the other towns in Austin before the highway commission of April 23: T. S. Henderson, U. S. Hearrell, W. W. Chambers, Judge W. G. Gillis, Judge John Watson, Giles L. Avriett, F. S. Lesovsky, T. N. Herring, W. M. Cobb, J. D. Dobbins, J. W. Coleman, O. M. Smith, H. M. Hefley, John E. Mangum, T. F. Hardy, N. H. Butts, Henry Reeves, T. J. Parma, Wm. R. Rogers, R. H. McIntosh, Frank Monroe, Monta Thomas and Representative C. M. Beard. This committee is from the Cameron Commercial Club. Every town affected by this highway will have a delegation and it is expected to have the biggest representation ever appearing before the highway commission.

E. H. Brueneman, representing the advertising end of the Victory Loan, appeared before the club and solicited the support of the members in getting newspaper publicity in the local papers. He was given the hearty support of the club and the following committee was appointed to attend to the matter: R. H. McIntosh, J. T. Parma, chairman, and O. M. Smith. Brueneman is one of the thirty-two survivors of the famous Canadian "Princess Pat" regiment. He spent three years fighting the Huns, receiving thirteen wounds and was gassed three times. He will be one of the Victory Loan speakers when the campaign is launched and has some thrilling experiences to relate. Mr. Brueneman's home is in St. Louis.

County Judge W. G. Gillis outlined to the club that the quota for the emphasized the importance of right ideals and ideas being taught in the home. He further said that the parents were responsible for the salvation of their sons and daughters. A large and appreciative audience listened with marked attention as Mr. Blaylock talked.

Members of the different church choirs of the city are helping make splendid music. A number of instruments are also making the song services a great asset to the meeting. Then too the congregational singing is great.

Meeting For Men Sunday.

A special service for men was held Sunday afternoon conducted by the pastor of this church, Rev. B. B. Blaylock. This service was held in connection with a revival the Rev. Blaylock has had in progress during the past week. A well filled church greeted the speaker. Rev. Blaylock took his theme, "Christ The Ideal Man." At the beginning of his talk he shook off his coat and went after the devil.

Cameron precinct in the Jewish war relief campaign was $500 and declared that the Jews living in the precinct had been as loyal as the other Americans and believed that Cameron should raise her quota in this the same as in every other drive that has ever been put on. A motion carried and two committees were appointed by the club to raise the money Tuesday of next week. Following are the committees: J. C. Joseph, chairman; O. M. Smith, R. H. McIntosh, committee No. 1. Max Collins, chairman; E. A. Flinn, U. S. Hearrell, committee No. 2.

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES TO REWARD

Veteran Of The Civil War After 90 Years Usefulness Is Called Home.

Captain E. T. Thompson, Confederate soldier and early settler of Milam county died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Brady Sunday morning, April 6.

Captain Thompson was 90 years old having been born in Abbeville District South Carolina, September 27, 1828. When he was seven years of age his parents moved to Calhoun county, Ala. where he grew to young manhood. In September, 1847 he married Miss Ariana Ghent, a daughter of Dan Ghent and a native of South Carolina. Eight children were born to this couple.

When the war between the states broke out, young Thompson joined the Confederate army. He was captain of Co. 5, 31st Alabama Infantry and fought with Bragg in Tennessee. He surrendered at Vicksburg. Later he took part in the battle of Chattanooga and was captured at the battle of Kennesaw Mountain and taken to Johnson's Island, N. Y., where he was held until June, 15, 1865.

Soon after the war Captain Thompson moved his family to Texas and settled at Port Sullivan where he has lived until a few months ago when he came to Cameron to be with Mrs. Brady. He was a successful farmer. He was a highly respected citizen of the community in which he lived and of the whole county. His first wife died in 1902.

Funeral services were conducted at the Port Sullivan Methodist church, Rev. W. G. Harbin of Cameron and Rev. Owen of Maysfield conducted the services. The deceased had been a member of the Methodist church for 76 years.

Captain Thompson is survived by a widow, five children, R. D. Thompson of Temple, T. L. Thompson of Houston and Mesdames F. M. Cawthorn of Waco, A. E. Brady of Cameron and W. Y. Self of Port Sullivan, 10 grand children and and 5 great grand children. All of the children except Mrs. Brady who was sick, his wife and nearly all of his grand children were at the funeral.

Many beautiful flowers covered his grave and a large host of friends and relatives attended the last rites of this estimable gentleman. The Herald extends to the family the heartfelt sympathy of the people of Cameron.

CLYDE FRANKLIN IS BACK ON HIS JOB

A fact that will be good news to the joy riders of Milam county is that "old soldier boy" Clyde Franklin is back on the job at the Chambers-Hefley Motor Company dishing out the "gas" and "slipping" this firm's customers "short quarts" of oil. Clyde looks natural despite his rounds with the "burley" Huns over there. He is just the same old fellow, knows all his friends everytime he sees one.

NEW LAW FIRM FOR THE CITY OF THORNDALE

Attorneys O. D. Graham and W. R. Scruggs of Thorndale were attending to legal matters in Cameron Monday. These gentlemen have recently formed a partnership in the law business in Thorndale and it can be said that the legal interests of this little city will be well cared for by these gentlemen. Mr. Graham is an old timer over there and has been one of Thorndale's very best citizens for a decade, while Mr. Scruggs is a new man recently moved there from Austin, where he was engaged in the practice of his profession.

Mrs. Charlie Woodson of San Antonio visited her sister, Mrs. Beard a few days this week.

and the devil's followers in Cameron. In closing his talk he made reference to a house of ill fame, and, after getting the pledge from every one of the 1,000 men present to support a movement to move same, a resolution was introduced and indorsed to rid the city of this menace.

Flying Machines Are Coming To Cameron

Late advice to W. G. Gillis County Chairman of the Victory Loan is to the effect that a section of the Flying Squadron boosting the Victory Loan will visit Cameron Monday morning. Plans are being made by the committee to have a big day at the county seat Monday. Extensive arrangements are to be made and business will be suspended.

Watch for big circular with announcement.

Notice.

To all trustees, teachers, patrons and persons interested in the common school districts of Milam county:

In consonance with the constitutional amendment recently adopted by the people of Texas, the legislature has passed a law providing for the free distribution of Text Books to the pupils in the public schools of the state. This law has many requirements and some application. Among the requirements is the condition that the school trustees in each school district must file their applications for a distribution of books, not later than the first day of June of each year, and there does not seem to be any provision that the applications may be filed at a later period. The law also provides that one member of the board of trustees, or some of its employees, must enter into bond, payable to the Governor of the State at Austin, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties and the distribution of these books at each school, and a commission of 5 per cent is allowed for such service, and under certain conditions the books may be sold to pupils, who do not desire to use the free books.

It is also provided that these books shall be "covered" under the direction and supervision of the teachers, and they must be returned at the end of the session, and a great many other requirements too numerous to mention here.

In order that all persons interested may be fully informed as to their duties, and of the requirements of the law, I hereby call a special meeting of all of the trustees of all of the Common School Districts of Milam county to meet at Cameron, in the court house on Saturday, May the 3 1919, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is essential that the teachers of the county be present at this time. We will also endeavor to have present a representative of the State Board of Education to make a full explanation of the law and its requirements.

Therefore, you are earnestly requested to be present at the time indicated, because if the applications for these books are not made within the time and in the manner required by law, there will be in all probability great confusion and delay in obtaining the books for the opening of the next session of the schools in this county, and it might be possible that we would have to purchase our books instead of obtaining them free, and the people would not be expected to forgive you if such unfortunate condition should ensue by reason of your failure to comply with the law.

Your earnest co-operation is urgently requested to the end that there may be no delay and confusion or failure in obtaining the necessary books for the opening of our county schools at the regular time.

All papers in the county are earnestly requested to publish this notice twice.

Respectfully submitted,
W. A. Morrison,
Chairman, County Board of Education

Attest:
J. F. Chadwick,
County Superintendent.

Meeting at Baptist Church Continues.

The meeting at the Baptist church is under full sway. Both the morning and evening services are being well attended, and a spirit of optimism, enthusiasm and faith prevails at all the meetings. The song service is under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Lay and singers from all the churches are helping while an orchestra of several instruments is adding melody to the organ under the skillful hands of Miss Ruth Sprinkel. The pastor is preaching straight gospel sermons.

The way in which the Christians of the city and members of his own church are cooperating with Rev. Blaylock in carrying on this meeting is of the greatest help to him. Let all Christian people unite their prayers and efforts in making this a signal meeting for Christ.

Letter From Joe Matula
Egypt, Texas, April 14, 1919
Mr. T. N. Herring,
Cameron Herald,
Cameron, Texas.

Dear Editor: Find enclosed Post-office money order for my subscription to The Herald.

I can't help but express my feeling away down in sunny south Texas (called) but is not. It seems like I left good old progressive Cameron for the very simple reason that I thought I would give some one else my place. But if nothing happens I want my place back, real soon as Cameron is too good a place to leave. I thought if I could get the old reliable Cameron Herald I could pass time away and not get so lonesome.

Probably someone will not thoroughly understand my locality. Well, I am still in the United States—Texas. Nothing will ever get me away into the sure enough unknown Egypt on the other side. This probably is as good a country as old Milam, but as the old saying is, "home is the only place to stay." But I will once more venture to say that to make ends meet Cameron is the "only" spot in Texas for me. As to crops, we have fine prospects this year here on the Colorado. Back on the prairies of course they have the same prospects but they cultivate black land and naturally are behind on account of the excessive rains this spring.

I cannot think of anything interesting for the Herald readers except to tell them when they once stay away from the good old paper they will long for it.

Luck and success for The Herald, Cameron and Milam county.

Yours respectfully,
Joe G. Matula, Jr.,

Mrs. John Bauer.
Last Monday evening at 6:30 at the family residence near Watts Switch occurred the death of Mrs. John Bauer. The deceased had been sick for four months and her death came as a blessed release from pain.

Mrs. Bauer was born July 9, 1853 in Betslow, Austria. May 11, 1875 she was married to Mr. John Bauer. October 1, 1880, this couple landed at Galveston from Austria. They settled in Schulenburg where they lived only two years. They next came to Milam county and settled at Watts Switch where they have lived for 37 years.

Eleven children were born to this couple, seven of whom are still living. All of these children live near their parental home and they all attended the funeral of their mother. Mrs. Bauer was a devoted Catholic and although she was a great sufferer the last four months of her life she was cheerful and thoughtful with it all. She was a good wife and mother and is sadly missed by all.

The funeral took place at St. Monica's Catholic church, Cameron, last Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. S. Spinneweber, interment taking place at the Catholic cemetery. The funeral was largely attended and the floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

The deceased is survived by her husband and the following children: Mesdames Joe Stocklas, Frank Zolesky, Misses Mary, Rosa, Frieda Lucy and John Bauer.

The Herald joins with the friends of the family in expressing sympathy for the bereaved.

PRINCESS EITEL

The determination of Prince Eitel to obtain a divorce from his wife does not mitigate the contempt in which that corpulent son of William Hohenzollern has been held in this country ever since his activities in France and Belgium were bared to the world. Princess Eitel has been known as a devoted wife.

Baby European Monarchy.

Lichtenstein once bought a cannon for saluting purposes, it is said, and couldn't use it because even when backed up to the Austrian frontier the shot fell into Switzerland and the gun kicked over into Austria. This principality comprises 60 square miles of Alpine scenery, and after immemorial contentment under a succession of rulers, the population of 10,000 now demands a republic. Lichtenstein remained neutral throughout the war. The revolt is interesting because at present the ruling prince collects nothing from his subjects, and practically pays all the expenses of government and the maintenance of public utilities, including the churches.

Useless Expression.

Benny—Father, I often read about poor, but honest people. Why don't they sometimes say rich but honest? Father—It would be useless, my son; nobody would believe it.

Missing Best Happiness.

The people who set their hearts on having an easy, pleasant time with nothing to ruffle their spirits, are shutting the door against happiness. For the best happiness comes through endeavor, through putting every power of the soul and body into something worth while and winning out. If your ideal is having an easy time, then true happiness is not for you.—Girl's Companion.

KEEP MONEY WORKING FOR UNCLE SAM

"Invest the Liberty Loan interest; you will receive in War Savings Stamps and keep the money working" is the message the school children of the eleventh Federal Reserve War Savings District carried home to their parents on April 15, 1919.

Frank M. Smith, Federal District Director of the War Loan Organization, had written to the principals of 7,640 schools in Texas and of every school in the Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma portions of the district requesting that they have the teachers write this thrift message on the black boards and have the children copy it off, take it home and hand it to their parents.

Arrangements have been made so that interest coupons from Liberty Loan Bonds are being taken at all postoffices in exchange for Thrift or War Savings Stamps. This interest payment in the Eleventh District exceeds $3,000,000.

THE LOCKET

By MILDRED WHITE.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mollie-Ellen found the glinting thing in the road which led from the suburban station to her home. Mollie had not yet learned to call home, the humble house which sheltered her; but it was the place where she spent the hours when not engaged in Doctor Brinson's office.

Mollie-Ellen wished wistfully that she might know the joy of giving comfort and courage to one brave American soldier. Her throat tightened at the thought of her own uselessness, the only one who needed her, had gone. And thus she came to the golden locket glinting from the roadway. It was an ordinary round locket, but when she opened it searching for a clasp of ownership, a soldier's face confronted her, a fine face with steady honest eyes.

"To Jane," she read on the inner cover, "from her Bob." The locket's long chain was unbroken, so it must have slipped unclasped from "Jane's" neck. It had been "her Bob's" gift, no doubt, before he had left for France. Mollie-Ellen glanced up and down the road, no vehicle, no passerby was in sight. She clasped the chain about her own throat as she hurried on; she would advertise the locket in the morning's paper. Even the small amount paid for advertising, would mean added economy to Mollie-Ellen.

She found that she would only be able to insert the advertisement occasionally. But though she unselfishly persisted, no claimant responded. Mollie-Ellen took to wearing the ornament, hoping that it might be recognized and returned to its proper owner, but "Bob's Jane" was evidently not in Mollie-Ellen's proximity. The locket she concluded must have dropped from some touring car. So each night as the lonely girl placed it in her jewel case, she smiled into the soldier's eyes.

"Good-night, Bob," she would whisper. It was really wonderful how companionable a photograph could become. Mollie-Ellen read sympathy in the eyes when she was tired, and she could see humor hovering about the lines of the soldier's mouth over some remembered incident of her day. Then Mollie-Ellen made a discovery—after all she did own a soldier and she must work in his behalf at the Red Cross rooms, must send knitted things across the sea, for would not this labor help one another? That he was "Jane's Bob" mattered not at all, neither he nor Jane should know of her rival. So Mollie-Ellen spent her spare hours in the house devoted to Red Cross work, and there overruling Mollie-Ellen's aloofness, a fashionable and beautiful worker sought her out. She blushed with pleasure at Miss Stuyvesant's praise.

"You are so conscientious in your duty," that person remarked, "perhaps like myself, you have a personal incentive? My brother is now in training." And just as Mollie-Ellen was about to deny the implication, the golden locket flew open, and quick as she was in closing it, Miss Stuyvesant had glimpsed for an instant a soldier's cap.

"So I was right," she laughed, "your brother?"

"No—"

Mollie-Ellen began confusedly, her companion's interruption left her sentence unfinished.

"My brother is near here in camp, so we are fortunate in seeing him often. Why," she broke off, "there he is now coming toward us. He is going to drive me home."

As Mollie-Ellen's startled gaze fell upon the advancing soldier, she longed to hide her own burning face, for the man was actually "Bob," himself, "Jane's Bob" of the golden locket. He looked down upon Mollie-Ellen, acknowledging his sister's introduction, as though he were aware of those good-night confidences.

"You must let us take you home," Miss Stuyvesant insisted, and as the three flew along in the big automobile Mollie-Ellen dreamed of brighter days.

Days passed and Miss Stuyvesant kindly continued the drives as a matter of course and Mollie-Ellen knew that she could return the locket to its owner through Bob Stuyvesant's care. But there would be the humiliating fact of having worn all this time the picture of a man she had not even known.

Bob Stuyvesant, as she met him again, was preoccupied, his steady gray eyes were clouded, reflecting troubled thought.

"Good-by," she said, "you have been very kind, Mr. Stuyvesant, but I shall not be able to see you again before you sail."

"I suppose," burst out Bob Stuyvesant in unexpected heat, "the fellow you wear around in your locket is the reason for—that! Sis told me about him, so I ought to have kept away in the first place but—" he laughed shortly. "I couldn't—" he said.

"Wait!" cried Mollie-Ellen breathlessly, she ran into the house returning with the locket. Desperately she snapped it open before him. "I found it," she murmured, "and 'Jane' did not answer my advertisement. You had better take it back to her, you are 'her Bob.'"

The soldier gave an unbelieving whistle. "So you've been wearing me near your heart, Mollie-Ellen," he said at last. "By Jove, if I am as near as that I'm going to stay."

"But Jane?" queried Mollie, her hands warded him off.

Bob captured the protesting hands. "Jane is the maiden aunt who brought Sis and me—" he said.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

The State of Texas, County of Milam.

On this, the first day of April, A. D. 1919, this court being in special session, came on to be considered the petition of Thos. V. $3,000,000 PAID IN INTEREST ON BONDS

Uncle Sam paid out more than $3,000,000 in interest on Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds, Tuesday, April 15, to persons residing in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District, which consists of Texas, the Northern half of Louisiana, the southern half of New Mexico and eight counties in Oklahoma. The Treasury Department has asked that as much of this as possible be reinvested in War Savings Stamps, so that the interest will keep on making interest.

Arrangements have been made so that Liberty Bond coupons may be exchanged for Thrift or War Savings Stamps at any post office in the United States. The total amount paid out by the Government in this interest payment is $150,000,000 which is a visible proof of the value of Liberty Bonds. The whole resources of the Government are back of War Savings Stamps, just the same as Liberty Bonds.

Thos. N. Herring, Manager

Cameron, Texas, April 17, 1919

The war is over but the rule of high prices keeps on.

Getting left is merely an annoyance; catching up is the serious thing to contemplate.

Bolshevism is the child of Cupidity nursed by Oppression on the milk of Irresponsibility. From this what do you expect?

A true reformer is one who gives you something better than you had before and leaves you happier than you were before. Christ did both of them.

Governor Hobby evidently looks upon the board of control as an experiment. All new things are. There's always one good thing about an experiment—if it don't work you can quit it.

Generally speaking, a bolshevik is a man who was either unfitted by nature to take advantage of his opportunities to be a man or, having had the opportunity and the fitness, deliberately threw them away.

Spiritualists tell us they can talk with the dead. Believe we'll get a spiritualist to call up Thomas Jefferson. Want to hear his opinion on the modern trend toward autocracy. His opinion used be worth listening to even if few value it now.

Rev. R. C. Buckner is dead; he died last week, closely following the Rev. Abe Mulkey. This is a mere simple statement; we might say it of any man at any time, but, friends of Christianity, do you appreciate what is meant when we say these men are dead? It means that Texas has lost two of the greatest characters that ever adorned her history. Few equalled them; none surpassed them. It is said that "the evil men do dies with them, the good they do lives after them." This is true of man in general, but these two took no evil with them, as there was none to take, while the amount of good they did may not be reckoned and will live to bless humanity throughout untold ages to come. Both consecrated their lives to the good of others, taking little thought of themselves, and their material accomplishments stand today as monuments to their memory. No inscriptions upon their tombstones save their names is necessary; Texas knows the rest. These men knew God, and God knew these men.

Brother Cooke's Rockdale Reporter last week was a dandy. It took us some time to decide that it was not the Dallas Dispatch but after we went into details and read the "facts" about that "Rockdale-Tracy Oil Field" that is gushing forth so promiscuously on the fair city of Rockdale, we discovered that Brother Cooke was just following up his best asset, that of boosting his home town. She was a dandy and don't you forget and the publicity, that we are certain he is responsible for, in the daily papers of Sunday will also reap a harvest. However, there was an important feature of this "big boost" that Brother Cooke overlooked and that is, he forgot to tell the prospectors and oil magnets that might venture into the proven field that it was necessary to COME TO CAMERON in order to get to this much coveted oil field in Matchless Milam.

Those Amendments.
(Temple Telegram.)

By joint resolutions of the senate and house of representatives, the State legislature at its recent session provided for submitting to the voters of the state, on Saturday, May 24, four constitutional amendments for ratification or rejection. The apathy and indifference of the electorate toward constitutional amendments is well known, having been demonstrated on many occasions in the past. The dictates of good citizenship, however, require a more alert and watchful attitude on the part of the citizen in performing his duty by the exercise of his right of suffrage on all matters affecting the welfare of the state.

Certainly the four amendments to be voted upon on May 24 are of enough importance to challenge every voter to make up his mind and cast his ballot. To prove the truth of this statement it is only necessary to name over the subjects with which these amendments deal. The first proposes an increase in the governor's salary from four to ten thousand dollars per year. Another would provide for woman's suffrage in Texas. A third proposes the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors in the state. The fourth would authorize the legislature to use or lend the credit of the state for the purpose of assisting bona fide citizens of the state, who are heads of families in securing or improving their homes.

Official copies of these amendments have been placed in many of the daily papers. They may be found in the March 12 and 17 edition of The Telegram. It behooves the citizenship of Temple, Bell county, and Central Texas to set an example in patriotic and intelligent responsiveness to the civic obligations which the privilege of living in a democracy entails upon them. The question is not so much, "How are you going to vote?" as "Are you going to inform yourself as to what you are asked to pass judgment upon, and then as a free-born citizen vote your honest convictions on each amendment proposed?"

Death of Mrs. Neinast.

Mrs. G. E. Neinast aged 64 years died at her home in Burton, Washington county, Monday morning. Mrs. Neinast is the mother of Jim Neinast of this city, who is one of Cameron's leading grocers. Mrs. Neinast was Miss Emma Kelm and she was born in Province Posen, Germany. At the age of 18 years she left Germany and came to the United States alone to make her home with an aunt. She was later married to G. E. Neinast and to this union eleven children were born, nine of whom are still living, namely: Mac Neinast of Burton, Mrs. E. O. Miller of Chilton, Jim Neinast of Cameron, Mrs. D. T. Dreger of Houston, Ed Neinast who is in the service of Uncle Sam and stationed at San Antonio, Albert Neinast of Houston, Miss Leulla Neinast who is teaching school at Georgetown University, Dan Neinast in the service of Uncle Sam stationed in New York and Felix Neinast who lives at home. The husband also survives.

Mrs. Neinast was a victim of heart trouble and was taken violently ill about 8 o'clock Monday morning, a doctor was summoned but she died in thirty minutes.

The funeral was held at the Rayburg Lutheran church at Burton Tuesday morning and attended by all the family except the son in New York. Mrs. Neinast was a woman of high character, her chief delight was making others happy, her ever thought was the success of her children and the passing of this good woman marks the ending of a well spent life, a life for the uplift of humanity.

The Herald extends sympathy to the bereaved in the loss of one so dear as mother.

Why They Quit

In November last a message was flashed from the German Front to Berlin that it was useless, hopeless, to fight any longer. America was ready to smash the German armies.

It was true. For every ton of mustard gas the Germans possessed America had ten tons ready for shipment. Soon America would have had a tank on every seventy-five feet of front. Thousands of batteries of guns would soon have been placed, where we had none before.

By making these preparations and letting the Kaiser know what was coming we ended the war, and saved the lives of thousands of American boys, who would otherwise be fighting and dying in the trenches to-day.

This is what we want you to pay for by lending your money to the Victory Liberty Loan---American boys' lives. You will not fail to respond to this kind of appeal. From a sense of duty, and in a spirit of gratitude,

SPORTING BLOOD

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

When the girl had climbed to the nook in the cliff, she drew back at the appearance of an old man ensconced on the rock which was her favorite resting place.

"I beg your pardon," she said; "I thought no one was here."

The old man smilingly waved his hand. "Well, I'm just no one at all," he replied, "so make yourself comfortable, and don't mind me."

Janey hesitated, but as he returned to his absorbed contemplation of the scenic panorama, she sank down upon a lower rock, and was evidently soon lost in troubled thought. A deep sigh at last escaped her.

"Only the aged should sigh," the old man remarked pleasantly. Janey turned to look into his shrewd eyes beneath their grizzled white brows, and all at once she felt an impulsive desire to confide in the possessor of these same kindly sympathetic eyes.

As though reading her scruples, the old man bent down encouragingly.

"Well?" he asked.

The girl laughed. "It's about Billy," she answered, the words seeming to say themselves.

"When a young woman sighs," her odd companion responded, "it usually is about Billy, or Jack or Tom! Has he been called to war?"

Janey shook her head. "Not yet," she said. "Billy is just a little above the age limit. That seems to be his fault; he is always just a little out of everything."

"And this particular thing in which he fails?" the man persisted.

"I am strangely moved to tell you all about it," Janey said slowly, "though I am sure I don't know why."

"Most people are moved to tell me things," he assured her; "sometimes I am fortunate enough to help them; sometimes not. In this instance—"

"Billy and I had decided to marry," Janey said. "Father places an obstacle."

The old man nodded.

"My father would like me to marry his own business partner," she said; "a very promising young man."

"But you wouldn't like it," her companion supplemented; "so what is father's obstacle in Billy's case?"

"Oh! it's mean," the girl cried out indignantly, "and it's unfair! Years ago father sold a cumbersome house and barns on the hills to some stranger who agreed to carry the estate along and make payment when he could. Father was glad, then, to have the taxes taken off his hands. But the man who bought the place went away (he was some sort of a sporting man) and he left the house with caretakers, the barns filled with his horses. Then one day the estate came back into father's hands. The sporting man was bankrupt, they said. He had paid nothing on the property, and house and barns were all out of repair. They really had abused things shockingly, so father sued for damages, just enough to put the place in selling order again. But his lawyer could get nothing. The sporting man was clever enough always to arrange his affairs that way, they said. And now—" Janey threw out her hands despairingly, "this is father's insurmountable obstacle: Billy must make good by collecting those damages. Father knows this is impossible. And Billy—" A tender smile hovered about the girl's mouth. "Oh, Billy is so confident of everything."

"I like a man who is sure of winning," the old man told her.

Janey laughed. "That is the way Billy was sure about me," she confided. He really is poor, you know, and father is quite rich. Yet Billy came boldly courting, and you see," her tone was wistful, "Billy won me."

The old man nodded. "Yes," he answered, "I see. And what was the name of this unscrupulous man who purchased your father's house to destroy it?"

The girl arose. "It was an Irish name," she replied, "Jerry Sullivan. And perhaps he did not know how badly the place had been used; he was away, you know. But at any rate," she sighed, "no one can collect from Jerry Sullivan; that's his reputation." Her companion chuckled; then with old-time gallantry he turned to assist her down the cliff.

"Now if they'd sent you to him," he said, "they might have had a different story."

"I wonder," said Janey, with a parting handclasp.

From below she waved up to him, then turned to run into her lover's arms. "Just hunted you up," said Billy, "to tell you I'm on the way to Sullivan's office; he's in town."

"Billy," cried the girl, "will you sue him today?"

The young man shook his head. Any eyes but Billy's might have been discouraged by the shabby appearance of Jerry Sullivan's office. Surely bankruptcy, even poverty was evidenced here. But when he had stated his case, the old man in the chair before him pushed forward pen and paper. "Write out your claim, young man," he said, "and we will settle the thing right here. And now," he added, when that feat had been accomplished with astounding ease, "now, I want you to take a message for me to that girl you are going to marry."

"Tell her that she met Jerry Sullivan on the cliff today, and Jerry's sporting blood wouldn't let him see the other fellow win."

BLACK BILLY SUNDAY IN TEMPLE MEETING

"Black Billy Sunday," the famous negro revivalist, who some weeks ago led the big evangelistic campaign here among the negroes of Milam county out at the Cameron Grove Baptist church at 23rd and N. Austin Ave., is leading a big revival at Temple, where he is meeting unparalleled success in preaching the old gospel of the Crucified Risen Christ to the largest crowds of white and colored people it is said, ever witnessed in Bell county. Many are turned away nightly. Scores are coming for miles around and adjacent communities are adding their quota. Black Billy spent a few days in Cameron last week in the interest of the local negro church, which extended him a call to supervise the spiritual affairs. He announces to the hundreds of good white and negro admirers that he has accepted the temporary leadership of the Cameron Grove Baptist Church and that he will visit here on the second Sunday in May and will preach. The announcement of Black Billy's acceptance of the temporary leadership of the church was hailed with keen interest by all classes.

As this year marks the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the first negro slaves at Jamestown Va., 1619, Black Billy is planning a monster demonstration in honor of the big event in the form of a 30 day Bible Conference Chautauqua, where some of the foremost white and negro Baptist leaders of the Southland will give a series of Chautauqua lectures. One of the special features will be the musical festival of southern melodies, a great singing contest when some of the leading negro choirs of Texas will participate. This event will attract thousands of visitors to Cameron and will give Milam county nation-wide publicity. Aside from the chautauqua lectures and the festival of songs there will be exhibits of negro products from the farm and home, domestic science, fancy needle and art work, telling the story of the negroes progress.

Good Roads Increase Land Values.

Wherever a bad road leading from a farming community to its marketing and shipping points has been replaced by a good one, over which much heavier loads may be hauled every day in the year, the value of the farms using the road has been increased, says the Texas Industrial Congress. The Office of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture has examined property valuations in parts of many counties before and after the change was made from bad to good roads. In Spotsylvania county, Virginia, for instance, the increase in values was more than eight times greater than the amount spent in building the roads; in Dinwiddie county, Virginia, the land values approximately doubled, with farms farthest back from the roads showing the largest increase; in Wise county, Virginia, eight farms located on improved roads in various parts of the county increased from an average of $49.06 per acre to $79.44; in Franklin county, New York the average increase of land values on improved roads was $12.50 per acre or taking the increase at $10 per acre on the farms along 492 miles of improved roads the gain in values was $1,259,520. In Dallas county, Alabama, the improvement added at least $5 to the value of each acre of land lying within one-half mile of the road and quite a number of instances were found of increases in value from 50 to 150 per cent. In Lauderdale county, Mississippi, the gain in values averaged from 25 to 50 per cent, in many cases being from 50 to 100 per cent. In Manatee County, Florida, the gain was from 50 to 100 per cent, or at least $15 per acre on all lands within one-half mile of the new roads.

No case has ever been found in the history of the world in which the building of good roads lowered property values.

Road building is a business proposition, and all its phases can be put in terms of dollars and cents. A good many Texas counties have taxed themselves for this improvement, and valuations of tax renditions and farm values as expressed in deed records before and after the improvement was made are on file. The prospective cost and gain can be very fairly estimated so that there is no necessity that anything connected with the issue should remain a matter of opinion. What has happened in these counties will in all probability, happen in others.

Making money through an increased value of land by road improvement seemingly reverses the proverb that 'one cannot eat his cake and have it too.'

Texas can double land values by building better roads.

MINERVA MINUTES

Cleanliness being next to Godliness, makes us delight in seeing the fresh light paint the S. A. & A. P. road is giving our depot which is also the "town hall."

Sunday school was well attended last Sunday and the sermons both morning and evening were fine and made a fair beginning for the week of services.

Misses Irene Moody, Estelle Wallace, Willie Gand and Edna Nell Cone were visiting home from Baylor College the past week-end.

Miss Blanche Gore of Cameron High School spent the week-end with her parents here.

Mr. Wallace Mpody and family attended the school exercises of San Gabriel last Friday.

We are sorry indeed to report Mr.

Ray Gore on the sick list this week.

You non-suffrage husbands should take courage for surely you know the lost travel in a circle and the wives will finally come back to the home hearth and kitchen; but think in the mad whirl what a clean sweep in politics will make and such things as the coming prohibition question will be well cared for all time.

A prohibition club was formed here Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Packer of Houston is visiting her sister, Mrs. McCollom and is hoping to regain her health here in the country of her birth and childhood.

Mr. J. C. Wallace states he was indeed glad to be among the thousands of Woodmen who attended the convention in Dallas.

Mrs. E. M. Belk of Dallas is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ernest Jacob.

Mr. Eph Chandler of Cameron spent a few hours with friends here Monday

Our crops are growing.

Our oil is flowing.

The men are knowing,

The radishes are bringing the price.

Our gardens are encouraging,
Our hens are still flourishing,
And our milk is nourishing
While the radishes are bringing the price.

The ladies are singing,
And to spring clothes clinging,
While hubby's money they're flinging
Because the radishes are bringing the price.

The people are sighing,
They know time is flying,
And commissioners won't be buying
The radishes that bring the price.

The school here closes with a short programme by the children Friday night.

The Woman's Missionary Society was conducted by Mrs. Robert Isaacs last Tuesday in the Methodist church. Mrs. Isaacs' teaching on the life of Christ was well appreciated by those in attendance.

Visitor from Burleson County.

J. T. Moore, of Rita, Burleson county, was a business visitor in Cameron Wednesday of this week. Mr. Moore is a prominent farmer and a highly esteemed citizen in his community, he also operates a gin and big general merchandise store.

A call meeting of the Symphony Club was held Tuesday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to collect the federation dues and to make out a report to be sent to the Federation of Women's Clubs which is to meet soon in Sherman.

Wedding Tuesday.

Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Baptist parsonage occurred the marriage of Mr. Tom Brock of this city and Miss Estelle Morris of Brooklyn N. Y. Rev. B. B. Blaylock performed the ceremony.

The young couple will make their home in this city. The best wishes of the Herald go with them in their new life together.

Because of the many positions in which they must work tractor motors are tested at angles varying up to 45 degrees.

VICTORY LOAN TO BE FOR 4 1-2 BILLIONS

THE INTEREST RATES AND TAX EXEMPTIONS ARE OUTLINED; "TO FINISH THE JOB"

Terms of the Victory Liberty Loan have been announced by Secretary Glass. They are:

Amount, $4,500,000,000, oversubscriptions to be rejected. Interest 4 3-4 per cent for partially tax exempt notes, convertible into 4 3-4 per cent notes wholly tax exempt.

Maturity four years with the treasury reserving the privilege of redeeming the notes in three years.

The 3 3-4 per cent notes to be issued later also may be converted subsequently back into 4 3-4 per cent notes.

The 4 3-4 per cent securities are to be exempt from state and local taxation excepting estate and inheritance taxes, and from normal rates of federal income taxes. The 3 3-4 per cent securities are exempt from all federal, state and local taxes except estate and inheritance taxes.

The size of the loan was much smaller than had been anticipated by most financial observers who looked for an issue of about $6,000,000,000 particularly in view of Secretary Glass' past statement that the loan would be five or six billions.

This will be the last Liberty Loan, Secretary Glass explained, although there will be other issues of government securities to finance belated war expenses. These will not be floated by popular campaigns.

None of the past issues of Liberty Bonds are convertible into Victory loan notes, and there are no specific provisions in the terms of the Victory issue serving directly to maintain market prices of past issues.

Campaign Already On

In many communities the selling campaign has begun actively, without formal acceptances of subscriptions, said reports today to the treasury although the official opening date is April 21, one week from Monday. The drive will continue three weeks until May 10.

"In fixing the terms of the issue," said Secretary Glass' announcement, "the treasury has been guided largely by the desire to devise a security which will not only prove attractive to the people of the country but the terms of which should insure a good market for the notes after the campaign is over and identical prices for the two series, and should not affect injuriously the market for the existing bonds of the Liberty Loans.

The Last Liberty Loan.

"This will be the last Liberty Loan. Although as the remaining war bills are presented further borrowing must be done. I anticipate that the requirements of the government in excess of the amount of taxes and other income can in view of the decreasing scale of expenditure be readily financed by the issue of treasury certificates from time to time as heretofore, which may be ultimately refunded by the issue of notes or bonds without the aid of another great popular campaign such as characterized the Liberty Loans.

To Finish The Job.

"I am sure that the people of America will subscribe in the same spirit of patriotism which they have shown in the past to the end that the notes may be as widely distributed as possible, and that our banking institutions may be left free to supply the credit necessary for the purpose of industry and commerce and the full employment of labor. Let the world see that the patriots of America, out of their boundless resources, and with the same enthusiasm and devotion to country with which they prosecuted the war to a victorious conclusion, are determined to finish the job."

Terms Of The Loan.

Terms of the loan are as follows: "The Victory Liberty Loan, which will be offered for popular subscription on April 21 will take the form of 4 3-4 per cent three, four year convertible gold notes of the United States exempt from estate and local taxes except estate and inheritance tax and from normal federal income taxes. The notes will be convertible at the option of the holder, throughout their life into 3 3-4 per cent three four year convertible gold notes of the United States, exempt from all federal, state and local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes. In like manner the 3 3-4 per cent notes will be convertible into the 4 3-4 per cent notes.

Provision for Allotments.

"The amount of the issue will be $4,500,000,000, which with the deferred installments of income and profit taxes payable in respect to last years' income and profits during the period covered by the maturity dates of its treasury certificates of indebtedness

now outstanding will fully provide for the retirement of such certificates. The issue will be limited to $4,500,000,000 except as it may be necessary to increase or decrease the amount to facilitate allotments. Over subscriptions will be rejected and allotments made on a graduated scale similar in its general plan to that adopted in connection with the first Liberty

Loan. Allotments will be made in full on subscriptions up to and including $10,000.

Date of Notes.

"The notes of both series, will be dated and bear interest from May 20, 1919, and will mature on May 20, 1923. Interest will be payable on December 15, 1919, and thereafter semi-annually on June 15 and December 15, and at maturity. All or any of the notes may be redeemed before maturity at the option of the United States on June 15 or December 15, 1922, at par and accrued interest."

The interest rate of 4 3-4 per cent is the highest borne by any of the war issues. Financial interests have urged a 5 per cent rate, but Secretary Glass indicated recently that he regarded such a rate as excessive, and speculation as to the rate recently has revolved about 4 1/2 per cent. The 3 3-4 per cent rate of the tax exempt notes, into which the 4 3-4s are convertible is 1/4 per cent higher than the tax exempt First Liberty Bonds, which mature in thirty years.

From Our Peace Delegates.

Members of the American Peace Delegation in an appeal issued through the Treasury Department call upon all Americans to "finish the job" by supporting the Victory Loan.

"To finish this mighty task, imposes on the government a great financial burden," the statement continues. "The Victory loan must thrive. If it fails, it would indicate that the nation is willing to leave the task uncompleted. To secure the ideals for which Americans fought and died, this great demand on national patriotism and united effort should meet a generous and universal response. Let us do our duty to the end.

"We have had the opportunity here in France and realize the magnitude of the accomplishment of our country in the great war, and the magnificent spirit with which this great task has been carried through to a triumphant issue.

"What has been and what remains to be done before normal conditions can be restored demand your continued support with the same spirit of self sacrifice, and of determination as that which was manifested by the nation while the German armies faced our men at the Marne and in the Champagne at St. Mihiel, and in the Argonne. We must not relax our efforts until every soldier of the republic is landed safely again on the soil of America."

Promotion Expenses Cared For.

Expenses incurred in advertising and promoting the sale of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps are deductible on the part of individuals and corporations as a business expense in the computation of income taxes, according to advice given out by Commissioner Roper of the Internal Revenue Department at Washington. It is the intention of the Government to show every consideration to those men and women who have given their time and means in previous loss and to whom it looks for assistance in putting across the final effort of the Victory Liberty Loan.

It further explains the effort on the part of the Government to show its appreciation for the work of patriotic Americans, as evidenced in the announcement that medals struck from captured German cannons are to be awarded in the Victory Liberty Loan campaign, which will open on April 21. The medals will bear on its front an embossed design of the Treasury Building at Washington. The reverse side will bear an inscription giving the history of the emblem, with space for the name of the winner of the medal.

LET'S FINISH THE JOB!

Our boys in France have done their part. The enemy has capitulated and asked for terms. But our responsibility does not cease with the armistice. We still have a duty to perform. The bill must be paid. While the war was going on we were willing to strain every nerve, spend every dollar we had, give our lives, if need be, in order to win. We have won and the price of victory for us is the loan of our money.

Others have paid a much higher price—to some it has been the loss of limb, to some the loss of sight, and to others the supreme sacrifice—loss of life. Shall we hesitate then to bear a lighter burden?

The honor of America is at stake. The work has been done. The debt has been incurred. The debt must be paid.

On April 21st, a day glorious in Texas history, the Victory Liberty Loan Campaign opens. Let us add increased luster to this day by responding nobly to the last call which our Country makes upon us.

Our boys in arms have made a splendid record for America. Shall the fair name of America be dimmed by our failure to meet the debt incurred that they might succeed?

This last campaign is the truest test of patriotism and one which I know our people will meet to the fullest.

FACTS ABOUT THE NEW REVENUE LAW

This paper is just in receipt of a communication from Judge A. S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenues at Austin, Texas, outlining the provisions of that portion of the new revenue bill imposing taxes on miscellaneous luxuries and semi-luxuries. This portion of the bill affects almost every class of business from the street vendor of candy and soft drinks to the manufacturer of automobiles and motor trucks.

One section of the law places a tax on all persons selling real and imitation jewelry, precious stones, watches, clocks, opera glasses, etc. Sculpture paintings, statuary, art porcelains and bronzes.

Another section imposes a tax on all manufacturers of the following articles:

Cereal beverages and soft drinks. Mineral waters and table waters when sold in bottles or other closed containers. It also applies to all soft drinks, ice cream sodas, etc., prepared and sold at fountains. It applies also to manufacturers of automobiles, automobile trucks, inner tubes and accessories therefor.

Pianos, organs, graphophones, music boxes and records.

Tennis rackets, skates, fishing rods, games and all similar articles commonly known as sporting goods.

Chewing gum, candy, photographic films and plates.

Firearms, shells and cartridges.

Hunting, Bowie and dirk knives.

Portable electric fans, thermos bottles.

Cigarette holders and pipes.

Automatic slot device vending machines.

Liveries and livery boots and hats.

Hunting and shooting garments and riding jackets.

Toilet soaps, toilet articles, patent and proprietary medicinal preparations.

Still another part of the law places a tax on all sales of certain articles when the selling price exceeds a prescribed amount.

This section affects sales of the following articles:

Carpets and rugs.

Picture frames, trunks, traveling bags, suit cases, pocket books, purses, shopping and hand bags.

Umbrellas, parasols and fans. House or smoking coats or jackets, and bath or lounging robes. Men's Waistcoats. Women's and Misses' hats, bonnets and hoods. Men's and boy's hats and caps. Men's, women's, misses' and boys' boots, shoes, pumps and slippers. Men's and boys' neckties, silk stockings or hose. Women's and misses' silk stockings or hoes. Men's shirts. Men's, women's, misses' and boys' pajamas and underwear. Women's petticoats and waists. Dealers of either of the three classes of articles are required to make reports at stated times to the Collector of Internal Revenue. All dealers should furnish the Collector their names and addresses immediately, in order that he may furnish them blanks upon which to make reports. Failure to make the required reports will subject any dealer to penalty.

On Controlling Yourself. (Houston Chronicle.) More nervous and irritable every year and no apparent effort to control yourself—this fact stands out, even to yourself, does it not?

Recently you have been placed in position where you have sensed it strongly that a cool head is necessary.

You need no better proof than you already have that you must get a grip on your nerves and your will power.

Now, this does not mean that you must tie yourself up into harder knots in your effort to overcome a serious condition.

You may need more rest, you may need more occasional recreation, you may need more pleasant conditions at home or at the office, or wherever you work; but whatever is the cause, remove it before it is too late.

It is just possible that you are eating too much, or you are eating the wrong kind of food, too much sweet or too much starch.

Then it may be control of your appetite which you need in order to relieve the state of your nerves; such things have happened.

One thing is certain, you won't get any better till you accomplish self-control. Get at it.

WAVE OF CRIME TO OVERFLOW U. S.; PINKERTON'S VIEW

A great wave of crime throughout the country is looked for by W. A. Pinkerton, head of the detective agency which bears his name.

"The crime wave has already started all over the country," he said Saturday morning. "It will grow worse and worse during the next few months. It is caused by the unsettled condition of thousands of men through out the country."

"The great crimes now are crimes of violence, bank and train robberies and daring offenses, which were on the wane before the war. We have had in the last few days the robbery of several banks in larger cities like St. Louis and Detroit. There is an unusually large number of these kind of crimes and I expect to see them increase in number for some times yet."

Greatest Wheat Crop in History

Officials of the American Millers' National Federation predict that the 1919 wheat crop will be between 1,250,000,000 and 1,500,000,000 bushels. The question of handling the crop was left to a special committee of fifteen members by those who participated in the Chicago conference. Representatives of 1,400 mills, with a daily capacity of 400,000 barrels of flour, attended the conference. Members of the special committee included Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, America never produced a billion bushel wheat crop. Now the experts say that the crop this year may reach the 1,500,000,000 mark.

DRUGS AND JEWELRY

The Queen of Festivals.

Next Sunday will be Easter. In the Christian calendar it is the queen of festivals. The Christian church, on the authority of the Scriptures, celebrates the rising from the dead of Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified, dead and buried. It is a stupendous thought, this of one who has tasted death being able to say: "I am he that was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore." We frequently hear the term, "converted." The meaning, as employed in the Christian church, is that one has passed from death unto life through faith in the risen Christ. The promise is that as he died and rose again, so also shall all those who believe on him. The whole of the Christian religion is right here; faith in a risen Redeemer. "By faith are ye saved." "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life." It is life that every one craves; no one wishes for annihilation. The Christian church holds out the hope—it gives the pledge—of life beyond the grave. It indulges in no maybes; on this point it is emphatic this same Jesus, it says, who has gone into heaven will return to gather together the elect of God. That is why Easter is the queen of festivals; it is the assurance, on the church's authority, of everlasting life.

Friday afternoon, April 25, I expect to have with me, Mr. J. A. Evans, Pecan Specialist of A. & M. College. Mr. Evans is coming for the purpose of conducting pecan budding and grafting demonstrations.

We will have the demonstrations on the farms, of H. L. Atkinson, and V. L. White, near Maysfield, beginning at 1:30 p. m. All interested in this work are invited to attend, I would like to have present at the demonstration some man who will learn the work and make a specialty of it, working for others for pay. Such a man is valuable to the county.

White Sewing Machine Manager Believes Tanlac Will Help All Other Sufferers.

"If it hadn't been for what other people said about Tanlac I might be suffering yet, and nobody need fear troubles like I had as long as Tanlac is made," said H. A. Morrison, local manager for White Sewing Machine Co., Dallas, Texas, and living at 3517 Brown Street of that city.

"I suffered from a long-standing and stubborn case of stomach trouble," he continued. "My stomach was nearly always full of gas that gave me no end of misery, and I had to quit eating most everything but broth and other light diet. I had such an awful pain in my right side that I couldn't stand up straight and sometimes I would almost double up in agony. I had terrible headaches, my sleep was so broken it didn't do me any good and I felt tired and worn out all the time."

"I read of a man in Tennessee who had gotten relief from the same trouble as mine by taking Tanlac, so I decided to try it. Before I had finished by first bottle I began to feel better and a few more made me feel like a different man. I get as hungry as a bear at meal times, eat anything I want and nothing hurts me at all. I sleep as sound as a log and get up full of life and energy, I have already gained eight pounds and my work is a real pleasure to me now."

Tanlac is sold in Cameron by all the leading druggists.

NEED OF WORLD IS FOR WORKERS, NOT "LOOKERS ON"

Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, of Methodist Church, Says World Must Be Given Education and Religion to Be Made Right.

"The great war put an end to a class of people that might be classified as 'lookers on!' said Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, director general of the Centenary of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. "There will be no room henceforth for the idler or the waster. There is too great an undertaking before us to tolerate obstructionists. This is an era of work for workers.

"Let us take just the one instance—schools. Just think of the thousands of men who appeared in the army draft who could neither read nor write. The government called them to service, to offer their lives to prevent the enemy from entering the sacred precincts of their country. Was it right to expect these men to make this sacrifice when the government had failed to do its part? Was it right to ask patriotism when the very men it was asking did not know the meaning of the word?

"We realize that the needs are great among the people of the rural districts who crave both education and religion. Conditions are necessarily remedied very slowly by the government, and part of the work, therefore, of the Methodist church is to be collected in May will be to provide a wide education and a spiritual direction for all of the people of this country. The condition of the uneducated must be changed at once. If there Mrs. T. J. Locklin returned Sunday are 'lookers on' in government office who are stopping the proper functioning of the office they must be removed. Their places must be taken by workers. The church may be counted upon to do its share."

The Lucky Irish.

(By Luke McLuke.)

When a man is born in Ireland, sure the fairies have a feast, And the stork must bring the new-born to the little fairy priest; And the priest rubs oil and honey on the little fellow's tongue, So he gets the gift of Blarney when he's very, very young.

When a man is born in Ireland, sure St. Patrick calls around, And covers him with shamrocks that grow wild on Irish ground; And the tad will love his Erin with a Celtic zeal and zest, Before the little gossoon ever sees his mother's breast.

When a man is born in Ireland, sure the men that are so wise, Gather round and sprinkle wisdom in the little fellow's eyes; And they give him power to do a thing no other race can do, For his eyes can tell a false friend from a real friend who is true.

When a man is born in Ireland, sure the wits all leave their graves, And they gather round his cradle and become his willing slaves; And they whisper humor to him, and they let it soak in deep, 'Till the lucky little darling has to chuckle in his sleep.

When a man is born in Ireland, sure the stars gaze through his soul, And they'll let his die a-bornin' if it isn't clean and whole; And the angels sing an anthem as the soul goes down to earth, For they know the Lord just lives to hear about an Irish birth.

Oh, lucky sons of Ireland, you are blessed beyond compare, Whatever Wit or Wisdom yields, in that you're sure to share; The saving sense of humor makes an Irishman elate, He'll pass a joke with Fortune, or he'll throw a kiss to Fate.

Dr. H. Bartilson, of the Ohio State Board of Pharmacy, adds the following verse to Luke's poem on "The Lucky Irish:"

When a man is born in Ireland, sure they celebrate his birth, For the world has gained another unfailing fount of mirth, That cheers all the down hearted, and drives the blues away, And we'll never miss the beer keg if they'll let the Irish stay.

OAKLAND SENSIBLE SIX

MR. CHAS. S. HEACOCK, WELL KNOWN AUSTIN BUSINESS, MAN HAS DRIVEN ONE FOR TWO YEARS—READ WHAT HE SAYS ABOUT IT.

HILLYER'S FOR FLOWERS

Chas. S. Heacock, Manager

Austin, Texas, April 3, 1919.

Benson Motor Company,
City.

Dear Sirs:

Am writing you concerning what I consider the great efficiency economy of maintenance and durability of the Oakland Sensible Six.

I have been in possession of an Oakland about two years and find in it all that could be expected of a car for general use. The cost of repairs has been practically nothing. The consumption of gasoline is very light; in fact, I believe it to be the lowest of any car of its power. I average from 20 to 35 miles per gallon on the road for touring. The oil consumption is equally as light.

I have driven my car through the roughest parts of Oklahoma and Northwestern Texas without miring or having a puncture or breakdown, over roads that were practically trails, and had not been graded.

I have driven my car as much as 7148 miles actual count without a puncture, tires lasting from 9000 to 11,000 miles; and when I needed power or speed, I found plenty of it, the car holding the road well and riding easy. I attribute this efficiency to the lightness and balance of the car.

I shall want another Oakland when this car I have gives out, and trust you will be able to supply same.

Very truly,
CHAS. S. HEACOCK.

We claim 18 to 25 miles on gasoline; 8,000 to 12,000 miles on tires.

Sherman Democrat: It is reported that the Salvation Army is going to quit taking up collections by means of the girl and the tambourine. Don't do it. We shall miss the girl and the tambourine, and not only this, that Salvation Army lass gets a few pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and sometimes even dollars out of tightwads who never cough up for anything else. The money is used for a good purpose, so just let the little lass and her tambourine alone, please.

PERUNA THE GUIDE POST TO HEALTH

Has Never Been Down Sick Since Taking

PERUNA

Read this letter from Mr. Robt. Minnick, Grass Range, Montana.

"In 1900 I was out in Kansas running a threshing engine and the threshing crew had to sleep out of doors. One of the crew brought a bottle of Peruna and I took the engine one day and I was feeling very ill from sleeping out. I decided to give Peruna a trial and sent for a bottle of Peruna and a box of Peruna Tablets, which straightened me out in a hurry.

"I have never been down sick since that time. I do not take any other medicines except Peruna. I always keep it on hand. If I get my feet wet, get a cold, feel chilly, or a little bad, I always take Peruna. People should not wait until they are down sick and then take it, but should keep it on hand like I do and when they feel bad, they should use it."

Spring and School Work.

It is hard for us to realize what a wonderful age and time we are living in. This is a golden year of a significant era. In some cases slowly, but in all cases surely, the world is greatly progressing. We may see changes going on all around us—a great panorama moving before our eyes.

But we may go further, and say that this month is the golden month of the best season in the year. Spring appeals to all. It is the favorite topic for the poet and for those who understand and love nature. Now all the "visible forms" of nature are at the height of their beauty—in their youthfulness as it were. The bird, the beast, the flowers, and the air, and the sun all combine to make this the happiest time of the year. Who does not prefer this to any other part of the year?

From this point of view, it is not just, perhaps, to expect as much of a school in the spring time as at other times. It is not altogether laziness, as some people say, that causes a person not to want to work in the spring. There is some indescribable something which calls and makes a person yearn to be out of doors and to enjoy nature.

It is our duty, however,—the duty of the individuals of the school to fight down this feeling. The number of hours that we spend at school each day, is very small, and vacation is fast approaching. Let us make the most of our time, and keep the school standards as near as possible to that which has been maintained throughout the year.

Work On The New Baseball Park.

Through the efforts of the Cameron Commercial Club, an athletic field was secured for Cam-Hi. A little work, however, was necessary to make it a first class base ball field. Accordingly Mr. Crawford selected thirteen boys from the high school to see that the grounds were put in shape on Tuesday, April 8. The company of young men assembled at the school building with hoes, rakes and wheelbarrows, and by nine o'clock were on the field at work, under the supervision of Mr. Kidd.

All went well, and a good showing was made by noon, when the Dixie Girls appeared with provisions for an excellent lunch. Mr. Thomas Hefley who had so far taken the prize for the most work, decided to take the prize for the most eating. He therefore ate one sandwich for each boy until thirteen were disposed of.

After the lunch, the girls decided to stay and help in the good work. Rakes were put in their hands and truly they made a good job of it. The girls seemed to prove an inspiration to the boys, for more was accomplished in the two hours following lunch than was in the whole forenoon.

We are glad that we have such a company of young ladies in school as the Dixie Girls, and we sincerely thank them for the splendid lunch and good work received from them. J. L. C.

Preparations Continue On Big Scale For "Mr. Bob."

Mr. Crawford and Misses Cain and Rose motored to Waco and Dallas last week end for the purpose of securing the electrical material necessary for the big production of "Mr. Bob." They were unable to find all that will be needed but the other things were ordered out of Saint Louis.

The dramatic club of the high school is working hard on the play and from all observations we are to have the most elaborate production ever offered. Three combined effects will be produced: Dramatic, musical and electrical. Mr. Crawford is sparing neither money nor efforts to make this production perfect from every point of view. The people of Cameron are to be the judges on the night of May 2nd, 1919. Owing to the fact that the seating capacity of the high school is quite limited, children under twelve years of age will not be admitted. Procure seats early. All seats reserved and at the same price of fifty cents.

The production is for the benefit of the high school annual and tickets will be sold by members of the senior class.

To Help Victory Loan.

Mr. J. N. Crawford has been selected to post the Victory Loan advertising in the city of Cameron. A large number of hangers and display cards have arrived and will soon appear in the show windows of the business firms of the city. We want the high school students to help do their part in getting the loan before the people, and we can do it by urging our parents to buy more bonds. Get them to buy them for us to go to school on later when we finish Cam-Hi.

Cameron Walks Off With Holland, 11 to 6.

News flashed over the wires about nine o'clock Friday that Holland would be down in "Old Cameron" to defeat her in a game of base ball. Well the bunch arrived in the afternoon, and the game was called at four o'clock. Holland was first at the "stick" but did not score. In about the sixth, Holland rallied and scored several runs. In the seventh Wiley was substituted for Parma in the box, and Parma went to short. In the eighth Parma was put behind the bat and Peel went to short. The game lasted eight and one half innings, Cameron being in the lead 11 to 6.

Last but not least we wish to thank the Cameron Commercial Club for making this game as well as others that we expect to play in the future possible. We also thank those who took part in cleaning off the infield.

Freshman Picnic.

April the eleventh, the Freshman Class had an exciting spelling match between science sections A and B. The battle was fought with great enthusiasm, for Mr. Crawford had promised ed the victorious section a candy making. After several hours of combat, section B came forward as the victor, and amid much cheering the conquered section walked from the room to meet whatever fate had in store for them.

Fate was kind, however, and B voted unanimously to invite A to an ice cream making, to be held at McCown bridge.

Therefore, Friday afternoon, Mr. Crawford left an exciting ball game between Cameron and Holland to lead the Fish expedition. After all ice cream is more enjoyable than a ball game.

We reached the place of our destination about 5 o'clock in buggies and cars. Freezers, ice, salt, milk and a little of everything imaginable were quickly collected, and with the assistance of sugar, milk and eggs and flavoring, the milk made excellent cream. There were two freezers of pineapple and one of peach.

The cream was frozen and then packed in ice so that it would remain frozen until a ball game was played between the girls and the boys. However, there were several "Tomboys" on the boys side. The game was almost as thrilling as the big game and it had the peculiar quality of making one hungry. Perhaps it is enough to say that there was no cream left, since it was of a superior quality, even if it wasn't cooked.

Advice to the Beauty Hungry.

(Conducted by Madame de Liar)

Dear Mme:

I'm engaged to a charming young lady, who dotes on ethics and beauty. I am a trained athlete, but am not beautiful. Can you give me some advice? Edwin Bigbee.

Dear Mr. Bigbee:

This is indeed a distressing situation. Don a track suit, borrow a Cam-Hi sweater, and practice the Thomas Hefley pose at the basket ball games. A glance at him is worth a season ticket at any beauty contest.

Dear Mme:

I intend to go on the stage but I'm very nervous. I have some good looks—at least my lady admirers say so—but my nervousness detracts from my beauty. Your valued suggestions please. Quinn Walker.

Dear Mr. Walker:

Try drinking straight water three times a day. Cut out coke and chili and you won't be rattled any longer.

Dear Mme:

Mr. Clark Childress has invited me to attend all the Commercial hops, so that I may be able to teach the angry mob the new dances. My particular difficulty is large feet. This social exigency calls for a No. 3 pump in place of my ordinary No. 7's. Can you tell me how to "trip it" under these circumstances? Louise Adams.

Dear Miss Adams:

Try Allen's Foot Ease. It's good for pig's feet and may help yours. If it doesn't help you, try to taboo the dances.

Calomel Today! Sick Tomorrow! I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Don't take nasty, dangerous calomel when bilious, constipated, headachy. Listen to me!

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

My Caller.

When Mable Agnes comes to call
 Her laughter echoed down the hall,
 And tripping echoes glad and sweet
 Came with her dancing little feet;
 And then she knocked and stood outside,
 And when I flung my portals wide
 She gave a leap, and came to rest
 With love and laughter 'gainst my breast.

Against my breast with all her charms
 And my neck necklaced by her arms.
 And her hands were roses red
 Whose petals showered on my head!
 Red, Kingsville roses, plucked for me
 And cared for carefully till she
 Could bring them to me, glad and sweet,
 With laughing voice and dancing feet.

And then when she had gone away,
 A sweetness was left here to stay;
 Out in the long and shining hall
 I seem to hear her laugh and call,
 And see her, stand on tipptoe
 To kiss me, and the roses glow
 In their tall vase. Each understands
 The sweetness of her baby hands.

KINDERGARTEN HELPS FOR PARENTS

Issued by the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, and the National Kindergarten Association, New York. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

Things To Make out of Newspapers.
 (By Mrs. Louise H. Peck.)

Kindergarten lessons may be taught with simple material found in every home if only the mother possesses with the play spirit, the idea of working toward perfection in every smallest thing. Never discourage any effort, no matter how crude, but remark: "You have worked well, and next time your work will be better." If possible, do the work yourself first, alone, so that you may explain it clearly when working with the child. Never take a child's work to show him how to do it. Show him with another piece. His work is strictly his own.

The following suggestions are for children of all ages, from four year olds to grown ups, and it is much more fun when different ages work together. For our fun, we need only flour or prepared paste, and the newspapers which have been folded carefully away, waiting for us all this long time.

Chains.

Cut the white margins from several newspapers, very straight and all the same width. Then cut these in strips five inches long, all exactly the same length and with ends cut straight. Take one strip, and paste ends evenly together to form a ring, holding for a moment until the paste catches. Slip another strip through this ring, paste the ends as before, and now we have two rings, one linked within the other. Go on in this way until a long chain has been made. Sometimes brown wrapping paper strips may be alternated with the white newspaper strips. Later, make chains that will teach numbers: one brown, one white, two brown, one white; three brown, two white; using all kinds of combinations.

Don't cut the strips for the children. The preparation of their own material is a wonderful part of the lesson.

When several long chains have been made, they may be swung to music or singing, or used as a jumping rope swung back and forth slowly but not over the head.

Pussy Chains.

These are also made from evenly cut margins, and in as long strips as possible. Lay the ends of two strips across each other at right angles, and paste together. Fold the under strip over across the pasted end of the upper strip, but do not paste. Keep or folding one strip over the other at exact right angles until they are used up. Paste on other strips to make the chain longer, and paste ends together to finish.

These chains are pretty made of two colors, and may be used as decorations for a Christmas tree or as a rope for jumping or to hang on the wall.

Paper Sticks.

Now let us make some paper sticks for laying patterns or pictures on the table as we would with toothpicks. Cut a strip from the white margin or from the printed paper, half an inch wide and twelve inches long. Dip one corner of one end in water and begin to roll tightly at a slant. Keep on rolling, tightly, holding the tip with the right hand while the left holds and rolls the strip. When completely rolled into a paper stick of five or six inches, hold firmly and fold over the end. No paste is needed. This makes the old-fashioned lamp lighter or spill. Illustrated newspaper sheets make pretty variegated sticks.

When fifty or more of these sticks have been made, use them for laying pictures of houses, trees, fences and corners. If the child wishes to keep a picture, have him make a penciled drawing of it in a scrap book prepared of smooth wrapping paper. All kinds of geometric figures may be made with paper sticks, oblongs squares, circles, triangles and so on. The bent sticks are kept in one box the straight one in another. In still another box we have all kinds of queerly bent paper sticks. There are our jackstraws, and we have our wand for lifting the sticks, from a longer strip of rolled paper, bent at the small end to make the hook.

Paper Pipes.

These are made of whole sheets of newspaper, rolled into loose cylinders measuring three or four inches across the end, the ends being folded or bent tightly in toward the center to keep the pipe from unrolling. To make water pipe, slip the end of one into the end of another, and lay as many as are desired, following the mopboards or anywhere else about the room.

These rolled sheets may be stood on end for a stockade fence, or placed across each other to build a log house.

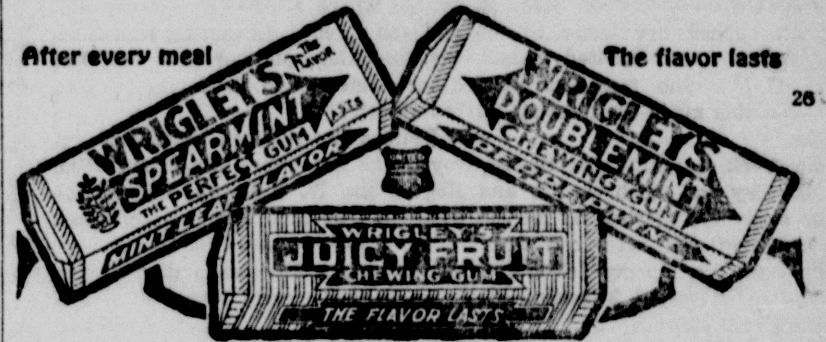

Stepping Stones.

Half sheets of paper placed on the floor, a long step apart, make good stepping stones over a running brook

WRIGLEY'S

Wrapped to insure its perfect condition in all climates and seasons. Sealed tight—kept right. The perfect gum in the perfect package.

the floor being the "water." Care must be taken to step straight and squarely on the paper to avoid slipping. The games is a fine one for developing quick balance. Sometimes we play "Eliza crossing the ice," with the dolls held tightly in our arms.

Castles.

Roll doubled sheets of newspaper into cylinders, big short ones, and big high ones. Look at some castle pictures and see how to pin the cylinder towers together, with long balconies. Good draw bridges and portcullis may be made by skillful fingers, also a moat from brown paper. The growing castle in the corner of the room has been known to make a whole family study pictured castles as never before, and even everyone helps in the building, there is more than a castle being built.

Help to reach all the parents of the country by cutting this out and passing it on to a friend.

Priscillas With Mrs. Brown.

Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. R. D. Brown opened her home to the Priscillas and a few invited guests. Nearly all the club members were present and this made the meeting all the nicer.

Needle work as usual was the order of the day and much chatter and laughter made the stitches fly all the faster. During the afternoon Mrs. Alva Pool of Big Springs delighted the ladies with several beautiful selections on the piano. Yellow roses made everything lovely.

After a season of sewing the hostess served the following salad and ice course.

Chicken Salad
Pimento Salad
Fig Sweet Pickles
Crackers
Hot Rolls
Pineapple Ice

Mrs. Brown's guests for the afternoon were:

Mesdames Hubert Atkinson, T. A. Pope, Giles L. Avriett, U. S. Hearrell, Swift, McIntyre, and Alva Pool.

The Bridge Club Meets.

Mrs. U. S. Hearrell entertained the Bridge Club last Friday afternoon with a beautiful Easter party.

Four tables of players enjoyed the games and after three hands were played, Mrs. R. A. Thomas among the members of the club and Mrs. Fahrendorf among the guests were found to have won high score and were each presented with a bunch of pink carnations.

The house was beautiful with its Easter trimmings. Pink roses and carnations were used effectively throughout the reception hall and parlor. Rabbits and chickens were perched on vases of flowers and on the tables. Jordan almonds in baskets placed on each table further carried out the Easter idea.

The guests of the club for the afternoon were Mesdames Swift, Fahrendorf, McIntyre and Hubert Hefley in the games and Mesdames W. A. Bonds and Gus Evans came in late for the social and refreshment part.

The following two course luncheon was served by the hostess:

Pimento Salad
Sandwiches
Stuffed Tomatoes
Olives
Crackers
Strawberry Cream
Cake.

Picnic For Nurses.

Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. A. Morrison gave a picnic at the city park for the nurses at the Cameron Hospital.

Great fun was had in the preparation of the supper, some of which was cooked on a camp fire. After supper all sorts of out-door games were enjoyed. Mrs. Morrison was assisted in entertaining by Misses Olive McGee and Louise Gillon.

Picnic In The Woods.

A merry crowd of children enjoyed a picnic in the woods last Saturday with Miss Eloise Rogers as hostess.

Two trucks and several cars carried the young folks to the Rogers-

Smith farm just beyond the Holtzclaw bridge where a bountiful picnic dinner was spread. Gathering wild flowers, kodaking, playing base ball and other games made the hours pass all too swiftly.

Besides the children those who enjoyed the day were Mesdames Wm. Rogers and W. O. Triggs and Misses Vance Hardy and Winnie Henderson.

Miss Leona Hutchison died at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. A. McAdams at 10 p. m. Thursday evening and was buried at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon at her home in Tulia, Texas. She was an affectionate sister and dutiful daughter and was the home maker for her father's family after her mother's death many years ago. Her father, Capt. W. B. Hutchison was for many years postmaster at Tulia and she was assistant to him in the office. There were nine children in the family and Miss Leona after her mother's death cared affectionately for her father and them. Her father's death occurred two years ago and she never fully rallied from her grief for him and her health failed. She was a great sufferer from rheumatism. All that loving hearts and skilled hands could do to prolong her life was done, but death came to her relief. Her patience in suffering was the marvel of all who knew her. Rev. H. R. MacFadyen conducted a short funeral service at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McAdams before the departure of the funeral party Friday. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent by friends of the family. Mrs. E. A. McAdams and son, Ronald, and her brother, Mr. Hardy Hutchison of Waxahachie, went with the remains to their last resting place in Tulia where other members of the family reside.

Married In Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Yates brought back the news Sunday from Austin of the marriage of Morgan Smith and Miss Gertrude Metz. Morgan is an old Milam county boy and is well known in Cameron. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith were residents of Austin and they will go to housekeeping there right away.

Attending Presbytery.

Rev. H. R. MacFadyen left Tuesday for Waco where he will attend a meeting of the Central Texas Presbytery. The meeting opened Tuesday night at the Second Presbyterian church and will be in session until Friday.

League Picnic.

NUMBER 50

ROAD BUILDERS AT MINERAL WELLS

Four Prominent Citizens From Cameron Represent Milam County At Big Meeting.

As representatives from the Cameron Commercial Club and because they are interested in good roads and a bigger and better Milam county, County Auditor Giles L. Avriett, Attorney U. S. Hearrell, H. M. Hefley and Hon. T. S. Henderson were numbered among those who attended the National Good Roads Meeting that is being held at Mineral Wells this week. These gentlemen excepting Mr. Henderson who went Tuesday night, arrived in Mineral Wells Sunday afternoon and were there for the opening of this important meeting.

The first three of this party returned Tuesday night and report a most successful trip. In speaking of the meeting, that was so successful, County Auditor Avriett gave the following outline:

"The convention opened Monday afternoon with more than 1500 delegates on hand with expectations of 2500 by Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by Senator Bankhead of Alabama. The welcome address was delivered by Governor Hobby of Texas and was responded to by Governor Brough of Arkansas. The address of welcome for the city of Mineral Wells was delivered by the president of the Chamber of Commerce of that city. The most interesting feature of the convention will possibly be on Friday as this is the day the route for the Bankhead Highway will be determined. There are two routes proposed for this great highway through the west, one leaving Hot Springs, crossing Arkansas through Altus, Okla., into Texas, touching Childress and Plainview and across New Mexico to El Paso. This is known as the northern route. The southern route leads from Hot Springs to Texarkana, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and to El Paso. It is my opinion that the southern route will be chosen and most of the Texas delegation are pulling for same."

"Everybody was delighted with the accommodations afforded by the citizens of Mineral Wells, they were ideal. Headquarters were maintained at the Crazy Hotel for the convention, every room in this monster building was placed at the disposal of delegates, this arrangement being made through the Chamber of Commerce of that city. There was no trouble experienced and the general verdict was that it was the best arranged convention of this size ever held in Texas."

"Among the state officials who are looking out for good roads in Texas attending were R. M. Hubbard, chairman of the State Highway Commission also other members of this board Messrs Fowler and Avery. State Highway Engineer Geo. A. Duren was also in attendance."

"Governors Hobby of Texas, Brough of Arkansas and Larrazole of New Mexico and former Governor Danogsey of Arkansas were distinguished guests."

Mr. Avriett said that as an educational feature he believed it was the best he had ever seen, and as for his part he learned lots about road building. Discussing the many features he said: "Every piece of modern machinery for building roads was on display including the Service Truck Company's products of Fort Worth, trucks made by the Selden, Troy, Denbar Republic and Warner people. There was also material of every known description for road building, which included brick, asphalt, concrete blocks stone and tar."

Mr. A. Jett was loud in his praise of this great meeting. He declared that the prevailing idea was to build good roads everywhere, not merely good roads, but permanent roads roads that will last for generations."

The trip to this convention by Milam county's auditor who has the direct supervision of road building in our county, is something that means no little to him and the citizenship should feel proud that they have in Mr. Avriett a man who is always on the alert for something better for the people he represents."

Branch Lewis spent Sunday in Rockdale with his family.

COMMITTEE CHAIR- MEN ARE NAMED

County Chairman W. G. Gillis of Victory Loan Urges Earnest Effort For Drive.

The following has been issued by County Chairman W. G. Gillis of the Victory Loan:

Cameron, Texas, April 15th, 1919.

Dear Sir:

This is to notify you that your name has been sent to the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, Texas, for confirmation as Liberty Loan sub-chairmen for the Fifth Liberty Loan Campaign which is to open on April 21st. You rendered such signal and acceptable service in "putting over" the Fourth Campaign that I feel you can, on account of your experience, give even more valuable assistance in this drive. You are chosen because of your experience and because of the position you hold in the confidence and esteem of your people. What you think and say and do will influence your whole community. If you think success, talk success and work for success, the Fifth Campaign will go over as easily as the others.

This campaign will be the real test of patriotism. Before we had flying flags, beating drums, marching men and booming guns to urge us on to do our duty to our country. Now the war is practically over and the appeal to the imagination of men is gone but the appeal to real patriotism is still as strong as ever. We must finish the job. Our debts of honor must be paid. The boys must be brought safely home.

I know you are going to do your part and that your example will influence your neighbors.

At this hour of victory across the seas, we must not fail at home.

Below you will find a list of the sub-committeemen for your justice precinct. I suggest that a meeting should be called for the organization of your precinct at once and to this end I appoint John E. Mangum as chairman of your precinct and request him to call such meeting.

A Dandy Show Window.

Ray Burke the enterprising manager of the Duke & Ayer store in this city is losing no time and sparing no effort to make this store attractive. He has loaded the shelves with numerous trinkets as well as useful articles that the people want. His latest achievement is a show window filled with "watermelons" and bombs like Uncle Sam whipped the Kaiser with, only they are filled with air. A buzz fan arranged in the center of the bunch keeps things lively and is attracting the attention of not only the "kiddies" but the grown ups as well.

BAPTIST REVIVAL VERY SUCCESSFUL

Enthusiasm Runs High And Pastor Blaylock Is Preaching Straight Gospel.

The second week of the meeting at the Baptist church is in full swing. All who have attended the meeting have come away with a keener vision of the meaning of life.

Every sermon has rung out the battle cry of Christ—"Onward Christian Soldiers." Brother Blaylock is putting his very heart into his messages and they are finding a response in the heart of God's people. His morning services are soul-filling and inspirational and many people are leaving their work both at home and in the city to attend these meetings.

The pastor is trying to show the Christian people that they have a responsibility in this life—the responsibility of telling some one else about Jesus. He is also bringing Christ before the unsaved in no uncertain terms. Wednesday night he preached a splendid sermon on "Set Your House in Order." He set forth the joy and responsibility of homemakers. He brought out the point that a multitude of little things were breaking into the home life, and that thus parents were losing their grip on their children. He

Club in the Sap Highway association, announced the following committees which will appear with the other towns in Austin before the highway commission of April 23: T. S. Henderson, U. S. Hearrell, W. W. Chambers, Judge W. G. Gillis, Judge John Watson, Giles L. Avriett, F. S. Lesovsky, T. N. Herring, W. M. Cobb, J. D. Dobbins, J. W. Coleman, O. M. Smith, H. M. Hefley, John E. Mangum, T. F. Hardy, N. H. Butts, Henry Reeves, T. J. Parma, Wm. R. Rogers, R. H. McIntosh, Frank Monroe, Monta Thomas and Representative C. M. Beard. This committee is from the Cameron Commercial Club. Every town affected by this highway will have a delegation and it is expected to have the biggest representation ever appearing before the highway commission.

E. H. Brueneman, representing the advertising end of the Victory Loan, appeared before the club and solicited the support of the members in getting newspaper publicity in the local papers. He was given the hearty support of the club and the following committee was appointed to attend to the matter: R. H. McIntosh, J. T. Parma, chairman, and O. M. Smith. Brueneman is one of the thirty-two survivors of the famous Canadian "Princess Pat" regiment. He spent three years fighting the Huns, receiving thirteen wounds and was gassed three times. He will be one of the Victory Loan speakers when the campaign is launched and has some thrilling experiences to relate. Mr. Brueneman's home is in St. Louis.

County Judge W. G. Gillis outlined to the club that the quota for the emphasized the importance of right ideals and ideas being taught in the home. He further said that the parents were responsible for the salvation of their sons and daughters. A large and appreciative audience listened with marked attention as Mr. Blaylock talked.

Members of the different church choirs of the city are helping make splendid music. A number of instruments are also making the song services a great asset to the meeting. Then too the congregational singing is great.

Meeting For Men Sunday.

A special service for men was held Sunday afternoon conducted by the pastor of this church, Rev. B. B. Blaylock. This service was held in connection with a revival the Rev. Blaylock has had in progress during the past week. A well filled church greeted the speaker. Rev. Blaylock took his theme, "Christ The Ideal Man." At the beginning of his talk he shook off his coat and went after the devil.

Cameron precinct in the Jewish war relief campaign was $500 and declared that the Jews living in the precinct had been as loyal as the other Americans and believed that Cameron should raise her quota in this the same as in every other drive that has ever been put on. A motion carried and two committees were appointed by the club to raise the money Tuesday of next week. Following are the committees: J. C. Joseph, chairman; O. M. Smith, R. H. McIntosh, committee No. 1. Max Collins, chairman; E. A. Flinn, U. S. Hearrell, committee No. 2.

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES TO REWARD

Veteran Of The Civil War After 90 Years Usefulness Is Called Home.

Captain E. T. Thompson, Confederate soldier and early settler of Milam county died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. E. Brady Sunday morning, April 6.

Captain Thompson was 90 years old having been born in Abbeville District South Carolina, September 27, 1828. When he was seven years of age his parents moved to Calhoun county, Ala. where he grew to young manhood. In September, 1847 he married Miss Ariana Ghent, a daughter of Dan Ghent and a native of South Carolina. Eight children were born to this couple.

When the war between the states broke out, young Thompson joined the Confederate army. He was captain of Co. 5, 31st Alabama Infantry and fought with Bragg in Tennessee. He surrendered at Vicksburg. Later he took part in the battle of Chattanooga and was captured at the battle of Kennesaw Mountain and taken to Johnson's Island, N. Y., where he was held until June, 15, 1865.

Soon after the war Captain Thompson moved his family to Texas and settled at Port Sullivan where he has lived until a few months ago when he came to Cameron to be with Mrs. Brady. He was a successful farmer. He was a highly respected citizen of the community in which he lived and of the whole county. His first wife died in 1902.

Funeral services were conducted at the Port Sullivan Methodist church, Rev. W. G. Harbin of Cameron and Rev. Owen of Maysfield conducted the services. The deceased had been a member of the Methodist church for 76 years.

Captain Thompson is survived by a widow, five children, R. D. Thompson of Temple, T. L. Thompson of Houston and Mesdames F. M. Cavthorn of Waco, A. E. Brady of Cameron and W. Y. Self of Port Sullivan, 10 grand children and 5 great grand children. All of the children except Mrs. Brady who was sick, his wife and nearly all of his grand children were at the funeral.

Many beautiful flowers covered his grave and a large host of friends and relatives attended the last rites of this estimable gentleman. The Herald extends to the family the heartfelt sympathy of the people of Cameron.

CLYDE FRANKLIN IS BACK ON HIS JOB

A fact that will be good news to the joy riders of Milam county is that "old soldier boy" Clyde Franklin is back on the job at the Chambers-Hefley Motor Company dishing out the "gas" and "slipping" this firm's customers "short quarts" of oil. Clyde looks natural despite his rounds with the "burley" Huns over there. He is just the same old fellow, knows all his friends everytime he sees one.

NEW LAW FIRM FOR THE CITY OF THORNDALE

Attorneys O. D. Graham and W. R. Scruggs of Thorndale were attending to legal matters in Cameron Monday. These gentlemen have recently formed a partnership in the law business in Thorndale and it can be said that the legal interests of this little city will be well cared for by these gentlemen. Mr. Graham is an old timer over there and has been one of Thorndale's very best citizens for a decade, while Mr. Scruggs is a new man recently moved there from Austin, where he was engaged in the practice of his profession.

Mrs. Charlie Woodson of San Antonio visited her sister, Mrs. Beard a few days this week.

and the devil's followers in Cameron. In closing his talk he made reference to a house of ill fame, and, after getting the pledge from every one of the 1,000 men present to support a movement to move same, a resolution was introduced and indorsed to rid the city of this menace.

Letter From Joe Matula
Egypt, Texas, April 14, 1919
Mr. T. N. Herring,
Cameron Herald,
Cameron, Texas.

Dear Editor: Find enclosed Post-office money order for my subscription to The Herald.

I can't help but express my feeling away down in sunny south Texas (called) but is not. It seems like I left good old progressive Cameron for the very simple reason that I thought I would give some one else my place. But if nothing happens I want my place back, real soon as Cameron is too good a place to leave. I thought if I could get the old reliable Cameron Herald I could pass time away and not get so lonesome.

Probably someone will not thoroughly understand my locality. Well, I am still in the United States—Texas. Nothing will ever get me away into the sure enough unknown Egypt on the other side. This probably is as good a country as old Milam, but as the old saying is, "home is the only place to stay." But I will once more venture to say that to make ends meet Cameron is the "only" spot in Texas for me. As to crops, we have fine prospects this year here on the Colorado. Back on the prairies of course they have the same prospects but they cultivate black land and naturally are behind on account of the excessive rains this spring.

I cannot think of anything interesting for the Herald readers except to tell them when they once stay away from the good old paper they will long for it.

Luck and success for The Herald, Cameron and Milam county.

Yours respectfully,
Joe G. Matula, Jr.,

Mrs. John Bauer.

Last Monday evening at 6:30 at the family residence near Watts Switch occurred the death of Mrs. John Bauer. The deceased had been sick for four months and her death came as a blessed release from pain.

Mrs. Bauer was born July 9, 1853 in Betslow, Austria. May 11, 1875 she was married to Mr. John Bauer. October 1, 1880, this couple landed at Galveston from Austria. They settled in Schulenburg where they lived only two years. They next came to Milam county and settled at Watts Switch where they have lived for 37 years.

Eleven children were born to this couple, seven of whom are still living. All of these children live near their parental home and they all attended the funeral of their mother. Mrs. Bauer was a devoted Catholic and although she was a great sufferer the last four months of her life she was cheerful and thoughtful with it all. She was a good wife and mother and is sadly missed by all.

The funeral took place at St. Monica's Catholic church, Cameron, last Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. S. Spinnewer, interment taking place at the Catholic cemetery. The funeral was largely attended and the floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

The deceased is survived by her husband and the following children: Mesdames Joe Stocklas, Frank Zolesky, Misses Mary, Rosa, Frieda Lucy and John Bauer.

The Herald joins with the friends of the family in expressing sympathy for the bereaved.

PRINCESS EITEL

The determination of Prince Eitel to obtain a divorce from his wife does not mitigate the contempt in which that corpulent son of William Hohenzollern has been held in this country ever since his activities in France and Belgium were bared to the world. Princess Eitel has been known as a devoted wife.

Baby European Monarchy.
Lichtenstein once bought a cannon for saluting purposes. It is said, and couldn't use it because even when backed up to the Austrian frontier the shot fell into Switzerland and the gun kicked over into Austria. This principality comprises 60 square miles of Alpine scenery, and after immemorial contentment under a succession of rulers, the population of 10,000 now demands a republic. Lichtenstein remained neutral throughout the war. The revolt is interesting because at present the ruling prince collects nothing from his subjects, and practically pays all the expenses of government and the maintenance of public utilities, including the churches.

Useless Expression.

Father—It would be useless, my son; nobody would believe it.

Missing Best Happiness.

The people who set their hearts on having an easy, pleasant time with nothing to ruffle their spirits, are shutting the door against happiness. For the best happiness comes through endeavor, through putting every power of the soul and body into something worth while and winning out. If your ideal is having an easy time, then true happiness is not for you.—Girl's Companion.

ALL SHOT UP BUT HAPPY

He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and Croix de Guerre and cited in army orders, besides being highly complimented personally by the king of England. He was wounded six times.

Flying Machines Are Coming To Cameron

Late advice to W. G. Gillis County Chairman of the Victory Loan is to the effect that a section of the Flying Squadron boosting the Victory Loan will visit Cameron Monday morning. Plans are being made by the committee to have a big day at the county seat Monday. Extensive arrangements are to be made and business will be suspended.

Watch for big circular with announcement.

Notice.

To all trustees, teachers, patrons and persons interested in the common school districts of Milam county:

In consonance with the constitutional amendment recently adopted by the people of Texas, the legislature has passed a law providing for the free distribution of Text Books to the pupils in the public schools of the state. This law has many requirements and some application. Among the requirements is the condition that the school trustees in each school district must file their applications for a distribution of books, not later than the first day of June of each year, and there does not seem to be any provision that the applications may be filed at a later period. The law also provides that one member of the board of trustees, or some of its employees, must enter into bond, payable to the Governor of the State at Austin, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties and the distribution of these books at each school, and a commission of 5 per cent is allowed for such service, and under certain conditions the books may be sold to pupils, who do not desire to use the free books.

It is also provided that these books shall be "covered" under the direction and supervision of the teachers, and they must be returned at the end of the session, and a great many other requirements too numerous to mention here.

In order that all persons interested may be fully informed as to their duties, and of the requirements of the law, I hereby call a special meeting of all of the trustees of all of the Common School Districts of Milam county to meet at Cameron, in the court house on Saturday, May the 3 1919, at 10 o'clock a. m.

It is essential that the teachers of the county be present at this time. We will also endeavor to have present a representative of the State Board of Education to make a full explanation of the law and its requirements.

Therefore, you are earnestly requested to be present at the time indicated, because if the applications for these books are not made within the time and in the manner required by law, there will be in all probability great confusion and delay in obtaining the books for the opening of the next session of the schools in this county, and it might be possible that we would have to purchase our books instead of obtaining them free, and the people would not be expected to forgive you if such unfortunate condition should ensue by reason of your failure to comply with the law.

Your earnest co-operation is urgently requested to the end that there may be no delay and confusion or failure in obtaining the necessary books for the opening of our county schools at the regular time.

All papers in the county are earnestly requested to publish this notice twice.

Respectfully submitted,
W. A. Morrison,
Chairman, County Board of Education.

J. F. Chadwick,
County Superintendent.

The meeting at the Baptist church is under full sway. Both the morning and evening services are being well attended, and a spirit of optimism, enthusiasm and faith prevails at all the meetings. The song service is under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Lay and singers from all the churches are helping while an orchestra of several instruments is adding melody to the organ under the skillful hands of Miss Ruth Sprinkel. The pastor is preaching straight gospel sermons.

The way in which the Christians of the city and members of his own church are cooperating with Rev. Blaylock in carrying on this meeting is of the greatest help to him. Let all Christian people unite their prayers and efforts in making this a signal meeting for Christ.

KEEP MONEY WORKING FOR UNCLE SAM

"Invest the Liberty Loan interest you will receive in War Savings Stamps and keep the money working" is the message the school children of the eleventh Federal Reserve War Savings District carried home to their parents on April 15, 1919.

Frank M. Smith, Federal District Director of the War Loan Organization, had written to the principals of 7,640 schools in Texas and of every school in the Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma portions of the district requesting that they have the teachers write this thrift message on the black boards and have the children copy it off, take it home and hand it to their parents.

Arrangements have been made so that interest coupons from Liberty Loan Bonds are being taken at all postoffices in exchange for Thrift or War Savings Stamps. This interest payment in the Eleventh District exceeds $3,000,000.

THE LOCKET

By MILDRED WHITE.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Mollie-Ellen found the glinting thing in the road which led from the suburban station to her home. Mollie had not yet learned to call home, the humble house which sheltered her; but it was the place where she spent the hours when not engaged in Doctor Brimmon's office.

Mollie-Ellen wished wistfully that she might know the joy of giving comfort and courage to one brave American soldier. Her throat tightened at the thought of her own uselessness, the only one who needed her, had gone. And thus she came to the golden locket glinting from the roadway. It was an ordinary round locket, but when she opened it searching for a clue of ownership, a soldier's face confronted her, a fine face with steady honest eyes. "To Jane," she read on the inner cover, "from her Bob." The locket's long chain was unbroken, so it must have slipped unclasped from "Jane's" neck. It had been "her Bob's" gift, no doubt, before he had left for France. Mollie-Ellen glanced up and down the road, no vehicle, no passerby was in sight. She clasped the chain about her own throat as she hurried on; she would advertise the locket in the morning's paper. Even the small amount paid for advertising, would mean added economy to Mollie-Ellen.

She found that she would only be able to insert the advertisement occasionally. But though she unselfishly persisted, no claimant responded. Mollie-Ellen took to wearing the ornament, hoping that it might be recognized and returned to its proper owner, but "Bob's Jane" was evidently not in Mollie-Ellen's proximity. The locket she concluded must have dropped from some touring car. So each night as the lonely girl placed it in her jewel case, she smiled into the soldier's eyes.

"Good-night, Bob," she would whisper. It was really wonderful how companionable a photograph could become. Mollie-Ellen read sympathy in the eyes when she was tired, and she could see humor hovering about the lines of the soldier's mouth over some remembered incident of her day. Then Mollie-Ellen made a discovery—after all she did own a soldier and she must work in his behalf at the Red Cross rooms, must send knitted things across the sea, for would not this labor help one another? That he was "Jane's Bob" mattered not at all, neither he nor Jane should know of her rival. So Mollie-Ellen spent her spare hours in the house devoted to Red Cross work, and there overruling Mollie-Ellen's aloofness, a fashionable and beautiful worker sought her out. She blushed with pleasure at Miss Stuyvesant's praise.

"You are so conscientious in your duty," that person remarked, "perhaps like myself, you have a personal incentive? My brother is now in training." And just as Mollie-Ellen was about to deny the implication, the golden locket flew open, and quick as she was in closing it, Miss Stuyvesant had glimpsed for an instant a soldier's cap.

"So I was right," she laughed, "your brother?"

"No—" Mollie-Ellen began confusedly, her companion's interruption left her sentence unfinished.

"My brother is near here in camp, so we are fortunate in seeing him often. Why," she broke off, "there he is now coming toward us. He is going to drive me home."

As Mollie-Ellen's startled gaze fell upon the advancing soldier, she longed to hide her own burning face, for the man was actually "Bob," himself, "Jane's Bob" of the golden locket. He looked down upon Mollie-Ellen, acknowledging his sister's introduction, as though he were aware of those good-night confidences.

"You must let us take you home," Miss Stuyvesant insisted, and as the three flew along in the big automobile Mollie-Ellen dreamed of brighter days. Days passed and Miss Stuyvesant kindly continued the drives as a matter of course and Mollie-Ellen knew that she could return the locket to its owner through Bob Stuyvesant's care. But there would be the humiliating fact of having worn all this time the picture of a man she had not even known.

Bob Stuyvesant, as she met him again, was preoccupied, his steady gray eyes were clouded, reflecting troubled thought.

"Good-by," she said, "you have been very kind, Mr. Stuyvesant, but I shall not be able to see you again before you sail."

"I suppose," burst out Bob Stuyvesant in unexpected heat, "the fellow you wear around in your locket is the reason for—that! Sis told me about him, so I ought to have kept away in the first place—but—" he laughed shortly. "I couldn't—" he said.

"Wait!" cried Mollie-Ellen breathlessly, she ran into the house returning with the locket. Desperately she snapped it open before him. "I found it," she murmured, "and 'Jane' did not answer my advertisement. You had better take it back to her, you are 'her Bob.'"

The soldier gave an unbelieving whistle. "So you've been wearing me near your heart, Mollie-Ellen," he said at last. "By Jove, if I am as near as that I'm going to stay."

"But Jane?" queried Mollie, her hands warded him off.

Bob captured the protesting hands.

"Jane is the maiden aunt who brought Sis and me—" he said.

$3,000,000 PAID IN

INTEREST ON BONDS

Uncle Sam paid out more than $3,000,000 in interest on Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds, Tuesday, April 15, to persons residing in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District, which consists of Texas, the Northern half of Louisiana, the southern half of New Mexico and eight counties in Oklahoma. The Treasury Department has asked that as much of this as possible be reinvested in War Savings Stamps, so that the interest will keep on making interest.

Arrangements have been made so that Liberty Bond coupons may be exchanged for Thrift or War Savings Stamps at any post office in the United States. The total amount paid out by the Government in this interest payment is $150,000,000 which is a visible proof of the value of Liberty Bonds. The whole resources of the Government are back of War Savings Stamps, just the same as Liberty Bonds.

Thos. N. Herring, Manager

Cameron, Texas, April 17, 1919

The war is over but the rule of high prices keeps on.

Getting left is merely an annoyance; catching up is the serious thing to contemplate.

Bolshevism is the child of Cupidity nursed by Oppression on the milk of Irresponsibility. From this what do you expect?

A true reformer is one who gives you something better than you had before and leaves you happier than you were before. Christ did both of them.

Governor Hobby evidently looks upon the board of control as an experiment. All new things are. There's always one good thing about an experiment—if it don't work you can quit it.

Generally speaking, a bolshevik is a man who was either unfitted by nature to take advantage of his opportunities to be a man or, having had the opportunity and the fitness, deliberately threw them away.

Spiritualists tell us they can talk with the dead. Believe we'll get a spiritualist to call up Thomas Jefferson. Want to hear his opinion on the modern trend toward autocracy. His opinion used be worth listening to even if few value it now.

Rev. R. C. Buckner is dead; he died last week, closely following the Rev. Abe Mulkey. This is a mere simple statement; we might say it of any man at any time, but, friends of Christianity, do you appreciate what is meant when we say these men are dead? It means that Texas has lost two of the greatest characters that ever adorned her history. Few equalled them; none surpassed them. It is said that "the evil men do dies with them, the good they do lives after them." This is true of man in general, but these two took no evil with them, as there was none to take, while the amount of good they did may not be reckoned and will live to bless humanity throughout untold ages to come. Both consecrated their lives to the good of others, taking little thought of themselves, and their material accomplishments stand today as monuments to their memory. No inscriptions upon their tombstones save their names is necessary; Texas knows the rest. These men knew God, and God knew these men.

Brother Cooke's Rockdale Reporter last week was a dandy. It took us some time to decide that it was not the Dallas Dispatch but after we went into details and read the "facts" about that "Rockdale-Tracy Oil Field" that is gushing forth so promiscuously on the fair city of Rockdale, we discovered that Brother Cooke was just following up his best asset, that of boosting his home town. She was a dandy and don't you forget and the publicity that we are certain he is responsible for, in the daily papers of Sunday will also reap a harvest. However, there was an important feature of this "big boost" that Brother Cooke overlooked and that is, he forgot to tell the prospectors and oil magnets that might venture into the proven field that it was necessary to COME TO CAMERON in order to get to this much coveted oil field in Matchless Milam.

Those Amendments.
(Temple Telegram.)

By joint resolutions of the senate and house of representatives, the State legislature at its recent session provided for submitting to the voters of the state, on Saturday, May 24, four constitutional amendments for ratification or rejection. The apathy and indifference of the electorate toward constitutional amendments is well known, having been demonstrated on many occasions in the past. The dictates of good citizenship, however, require a more alert and watchful attitude on the part of the citizen in performing his duty by the exercise of his right of suffrage on all matters affecting the welfare of the state.

Certainly the four amendments to be voted upon on May 24 are of enough importance to challenge every voter to make up his mind and cast his ballot. To prove the truth of this statement it is only necessary to name over the subjects with which these amendments deal. The first proposes an increase in the governor's salary from four to ten thousand dollars per year. Another would provide for woman's suffrage in Texas. A third proposes the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors in the state. The fourth would authorize the legislature to use or lend the credit of the state for the purpose of assisting bona fide citizens of the state, who are heads of families in securing or improving their homes.

Official copies of these amendments have been published in many of the daily papers. They may be found in the March 12 and 17 edition of The Telegram. It behooves the citizenship of Temple, Bell county, and Central Texas to set an example in patriotic and intelligent responsiveness to the civic obligations which the privilege of living in a democracy entails upon them. The question is not so much, "How are you going to vote?" as "Are you going to inform yourself as to what you are asked to pass judgment upon, and then as a free-born citizen vote your honest convictions on each amendment proposed?"

Death of Mrs. Neinst.

Mrs. G. E. Neinst aged 64 years died at her home in Burton, Washington county, Monday morning. Mrs. Neinst is the mother of Jim Neinst of this city, who is one of Cameron's leading grocerymen. Mrs. Neinst was Miss Emma Kelm and she was born in Province Posen, Germany. At the age of 18 years she left Germany and came to the United States alone to make her home with an aunt. She was later married to G. E. Neinst and to this union eleven children were born, nine of whom are still living, namely: Mac Neinst of Burton, Mrs. E. O. Miller of Chilton, Jim Neinst of Cameron, Mrs. D. T. Dreger of Houston, Ed Neinst who is in the service of Uncle Sam and stationed at San Antonio, Albert Neinst of Houston, Miss Leulla Neinst who is teaching school at Georgetown University, Dan Neinst in the service of Uncle Sam stationed in New York and Felix Neinst who lives at home. The husband also survives.

Mrs. Neinst was a victim of heart trouble and was taken violently ill about 8 o'clock Monday morning, a doctor was summoned but she died in thirty minutes.

The funeral was held at the Rayburg Lutheran church at Burton Tuesday morning and attended by all the family except the son in New York. Mrs. Neinst was a woman of high character, her chief delight was making others happy, her ever thought was the success of her children and the passing of this good woman marks the ending of a well spent life, a life for the uplift of humanity.

The Herald extends sympathy to the bereaved in the loss of one so dear as mother.

"THE BANK OF GOOD SERVICE"

Why They Quit

In November last a message was flashed from the German Front to Berlin that it was useless, hopeless, to fight any longer. America was ready to smash the German armies.

It was true. For every ton of mustard gas the Germans possessed America had ten tons ready for shipment. Soon America would have had a tank on every seventy-five feet of front. Thousands of batteries of guns would soon have been placed, where we had none before.

By making these preparations and letting the Kaiser know what was coming we ended the war, and saved the lives of thousands of American boys, who would otherwise be fighting and dying in the trenches to-day.

This is what we want you to pay for by lending your money to the Victory Liberty Loan---American boys' lives. You will not fail to respond to this kind of appeal. From a sense of duty, and in a spirit of gratitude,

SPORTING BLOOD

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

When the girl had climbed to the nook in the cliff, she drew back at the appearance of an old man enconced on the rock which was her favorite resting place.

"I beg your pardon," she said; "I thought no one was here."

The old man smilingly waved his hand. "Well, I'm just no one at all," he replied, "so make yourself comfortable, and don't mind me."

Janey hesitated, but as he returned to his absorbed contemplation of the scenic panorama, she sank down upon a lower rock, and was evidently soon lost in troubled thought. A deep sigh at last escaped her.

"Only the aged should sigh," the old man remarked pleasantly. Janey turned to look into his shrewd eyes beneath their grizzled white brows, and all at once she felt an impulsive desire to confide in the possessor of these same kindly sympathetic eyes.

As though reading her scruples, the old man bent down encouragingly.

"Well?" he asked.

The girl laughed. "It's about Billy," she answered, the words seeming to say themselves.

"When a young woman sighs," her odd companion responded, "it usually is about Billy, or Jack or Tom! Has he been called to war?"

Janey shook her head. "Not yet," she said. "Billy is just a little above the age limit. That seems to be his fault; he is always just a little out of everything."

"And this particular thing in which he fails?" the man persisted.

"I am strangely moved to tell you all about it," Janey said slowly, "though I am sure I don't know why."

"Most people are moved to tell me things," he assured her; "sometimes I am fortunate enough to help them; sometimes not. In this instance—"

"Billy and I had decided to marry," Janey said. "Father places an obstacle."

The old man nodded. "My father would like me to marry his own business partner," she said; "a very promising young man."

"But you wouldn't like it," her companion supplemented; "so what is father's obstacle in Billy's case?"

"Oh! it's mean," the girl cried out indignantly, "and it's unfair! Years ago father sold a cumbersome house and barns on the hills to some stranger who agreed to carry the estate along and make payment when he could. Father was glad, then, to have the taxes taken off his hands. But the man who bought the place went away (he was some sort of a sporting man) and he left the house with caretakers, the barns filled with his horses. Then one day the estate came back into father's hands. The sporting man was bankrupt, they said. He had paid nothing on the property, and house and barns were all out of repair. They really had abused things shockingly, so father sued for damages, just enough to put the place in selling order again. But his lawyer could get nothing. The sporting man was clever enough always to arrange his affairs that way, they said. And now—" Janey threw out her hands despairingly. "This is father's insurmountable obstacle: Billy must make good by collecting those damages. Father knows this is impossible. And Billy—" A tender smile hovered about the girl's mouth. "Oh, Billy is so confident of everything."

"I like a man who is sure of winning," the old man told her.

Janey laughed. "That is the way Billy was sure about me," she confided. He really is poor, you know, and father is quite rich. Yet Billy came boldly courting, and you see, her tone was wistful, "Billy won me."

The old man nodded. "Yes," he answered, "I see. And what was the name of this unscrupulous man who purchased your father's house to destroy it?"

The girl arose. "It was an Irish name," she replied, "Jerry Sullivan. And perhaps he did not know how badly the place had been used; he was away, you know. But at any rate," she sighed, "no one can collect from Jerry Sullivan; that's his reputation." Her companion chuckled; then with old-time gallantry he turned to assist her down the cliff.

"Now if they'd sent you to him," he said, "they might have had a different story."

"I wonder," said Janey, with a parting handclasp.

From below she waved up to him, then turned to run into her lover's arms. "Just hunted you up," said Billy, "to tell you I'm on the way to Sullivan's office; he's in town."

"Billy," cried the girl, "will you sue him today?"

The young man shook his head. Any eyes but Billy's might have been discouraged by the shabby appearance of Jerry Sullivan's office. Surely bankruptcy, even poverty was evidenced here. But when he had stated his case, the old man in the chair before him pushed forward pen and paper. "Write out your claim, young man," he said, "and we will settle the thing right here. And now," he added, when that feat had been accomplished with astounding ease, "now, I want you to take a message for me to that girl you are going to marry."

"Tell her that she met Jerry Sullivan on the cliff today, and Jerry's sporting blood wouldn't let him see the other fellow win."

BLACK BILLY SUNDAY IN TEMPLE MEETING

"Black Billy Sunday," the famous negro revivalist, who some weeks ago led the big evangelistic campaign here among the negroes of Milam county out at the Cameron Grove Baptist church at 23rd and N. Austin Ave., is leading a big revival at Temple, where he is meeting unparalleled success in preaching the old gospel of the Crucified Risen Christ to the largest crowds of white and colored people it is said, ever witnessed in Bell county. Many are turned away nightly. Scores are coming for miles around and adjacent communities are adding their quota. Black Billy spent a few days in Cameron last week in the interest of the local negro church, which extended him a call to supervise the spiritual affairs. He announces to the hundreds of good white and negro admirers that he has accepted the temporary leadership of the Cameron Grove Baptist Church and that he will visit here on the second Sunday in May and will preach. The announcement of Black Billy's acceptance of the temporary leadership of the church was hailed with keen interest by all classes.

As this year marks the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the first negro slaves at Jamestown Va., 1619, Black Billy is planning a monster demonstration in honor of the big event in the form of a 30 day Bible Conference Chautauqua, where some of the foremost white and negro Baptist leaders of the Southland will give a series of Chautauqua lectures. One of the special features will be the musical festival of southern melodies, a great singing contest when some of the leading negro choirs of Texas will participate. This event will attract thousands of visitors to Cameron and will give Milam county nation-wide publicity. Aside from the chautauqua lectures and the festival of songs there will be exhibits of negro products from the farm and home, domestic science, fancy needle and art work, telling the story of the negroes progress.

Good Roads Increase Land Values.

Wherever a bad road leading from a farming community to its marketing and shipping points has been replaced by a good one, over which much heavier loads may be hauled every day in the year, the value of the farms using the road has been increased, says the Texas Industrial Congress. The Office of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture has examined property valuations in parts of many counties before and after the change was made from bad to good roads. In Spotsylvania county, Virginia, for instance, the increase in values was more than eight times greater than the amount spent in building the roads; in Dinwiddie county, Virginia, the land values approximately doubled, with farms farthest back from the roads showing the largest increase; in Wise county, Virginia, eight farms located on improved roads in various parts of the county increased from an average of $49.06 per acre to $79.44; in Franklin county, New York the average increase of land values on improved roads was $12.50 per acre or taking the increase at $10 per acre on the farms along 492 miles of improved roads the gain in values was $1,259,520. In Dallas county, Alabama, the improvement added at least $5 to the value of each acre of land lying within one-half mile of the road and quite a number of instances were found of increases in value from 50 to 150 per cent. In Lauderdale county, Mississippi, the gain in values averaged from 25 to 50 per cent, in many cases being from 50 to 100 per cent. In Manatee County, Florida, the gain was from 50 to 100 per cent, or at least $15 per acre on all lands within one-half mile of the new roads.

No case has ever been found in the history of the world in which the building of good roads lowered property values.

Road building is a business proposition, and all its phases can be put in terms of dollars and cents. A good many Texas counties have taxed themselves for this improvement, and valuations of tax renditions and farm values as expressed in deed records before and after the improvement was made are on file. The prospective cost and gain can be very fairly estimated so that there is no necessity that anything connected with the issue should remain a matter of opinion. What has happened in these counties will in all probability, happen in others.

Making money through an increased value of land by road improvement seemingly reverses the proverb that 'one cannot eat his cake and have it too.'

Texas can double land values by building better roads.

MINERVA MINUTES

Cleanliness being next to Godliness, makes us delight in seeing the fresh light paint the S. A. & A. P. road is giving our depot which is also the "town hall."

Sunday school was well attended last Sunday and the sermons both morning and evening were fine and made a fair beginning for the week of services.

Misses Irene Moody, Estelle Wallace Willie Gand and Edna Nell Cone were visiting home from Baylor College the past week-end.

Miss Blanche Gore of Cameron High School spent the week-end with her parents here.

Mr. Wallace Moody and family attended the school exercises of San Gabriel last Friday.

We are sorry indeed to report Mr.

Ray Gore on the sick list this week.

You non-suffrage husbands should take courage for surely you know the lost travel in a circle and the wives will finally come back to the home hearth and kitchen; but think in the mad whirl what a clean sweep in politics will make and such things as the coming prohibition question will be well cared for all time.

A prohibition club was formed here Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Packer of Houston is visiting her sister, Mrs. McCollom and is hoping to regain her health here in the country of her birth and childhood.

Mr. J. C. Wallace states he was indeed glad to be among the thousands of Woodmen who attended the convention in Dallas.

Mrs. E. M. Belk of Dallas is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ernest Jacob.

Mr. Eph Chandler of Cameron spent a few hours with friends here Monday

Our crops are growing.

Our oil is flowing.

The men are knowing,
The radishes are bringing the price.

Our gardens are encouraging,
Our hens are still flourishing,
And our milk is nourishing
While the radishes are bringing the price.

The ladies are singing,
And to spring clothes clinging,
While hubby's money they'er flinging
Because the radishes are bringing the price.

The people are sighing,
They know time is flying,
And commissioners won't be buying
The radishes that bring the price.

The school here closes with a short programme by the children Friday night.

The Woman's Missionary Society was conducted by Mrs. Robert Isaacs last Tuesday in the Methodist church Mrs. Isaacs' teaching on the life of Christ was well appreciated by those in attendance.

Visitor from Burleson County.

J. T. Moore, of Rita, Burleson county, was a business visitor in Cameron Wednesday of this week. Mr. Moore is a prominent farmer and a highly esteemed citizen in his community, he also operates a gin and big general merchandise store.

A call meeting of the Symphony Club was held Tuesday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to collect the federation dues and to make out a report to be sent to the Federation of Women's Clubs which is to meet soon in Sherman.

Wedding Tuesday.

Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Baptist parsonage occurred the marriage of Mr. Tom Brock of this city and Miss Estelle Morris of Brooklyn N. Y. Rev. B. B. Blaylock performed the ceremony.

The young couple will make their home in this city. The best wishes of the Herald go with them in their new life together.

Because of the many positions in which they must work tractor motors are tested at angles varying up to 45 degrees.
